Preface to the American Version

A few statements need to be made respecting the origin of this edition of the Revised Version of the English Bible.

In the course of the joint labors of the English and American Revisers it was agreed that, respecting all points of ultimate difference, the English Companies, who had had the initiative in the work of revision, should have the decisive vote. But as an offset to this, it was proposed on the British side that the American preferences should be published as an Appendix in every copy of the Revised Bible during a term of fourteen years. The American Committee on their part pledged themselves to give, for the same limited period, no sanction to the publication of any other editions of the Revised Version than those issued by the University Presses of England.

There still remained the possibility that the British Revisers, or the University Presses, might eventually adopt in the English editions many, or the most, of the American preferences, in case these should receive the approval of scholars and the general public. But soon after the close of their work in 1885 the English Revision Companies disbanded; and there has been no indication of an intention on the part of the Presses to amalgamate the readings of the Appendix, either wholly or in part, with the text of the English editions.

The American Revision Committee, after the publication of the Revised Version in 1885, resolved to continue their organization, and have regarded it as a possibility that an American recension of the English Revision might eventually be called for. Accordingly they have been engaged more or less diligently, ever since 1885, and especially since the year 1897, in making ready for such a publication. The judgment of scholars, both in Great Britain and in the United States, has so far approved the American preferences that it now seems to be expedient to issue an edition of the Revised Version with those preferences embodied in the text.

If the preparation of this new edition had consisted merely in the mechanical work of transferring the readings of the Appendix to the text, it would have been a comparatively easy task. But the work was in point of fact a much more elaborate one. The Appendix was itself in need of revision; for it had been prepared under circumstances which rendered fulness and accuracy almost impossible. This work could of course not be taken in hand until the revision was concluded; and since it required a careful consideration of discussions and decisions extending over a period of many years, there was need of many months' time, if the Appendix was to be satisfactorily constructed, especially as it was thought desirable to reduce the number of recorded differences, and this required the drawing of a sharp line between the more and the less important. Manifestly such a task would be one of no little difficulty at the best. But when the time came for it to be done, the University Presses deemed that the impatient demand of the British public for the speedy publication of the Revision must be respected; and they insisted on a prompt transmission of the Appendix. Prepared under such pressure and in such haste, it was obviously inevitable that it should be marked by grave imperfections; and the correction of its errors and the supplementing of its defects has been a work of much time and labor.

When the Appendix was originally prepared, an effort was made to pave the way for an eventual acceptance of the American preferences on the part of the English Presses, by reducing the number of the points of difference to the lowest limit, and thus leaving out much the larger part of the emendations which the Revisers had previously by a two-thirds vote pronounced to be in their opinion of decided importance. In now issuing an American edition, the American Revisers, being entirely untrammelled by any connection with the British Revisers and Presses, have felt themselves to be free to go beyond the task of incorporating the Appendix in the text, and are no longer restrained from introducing into the text a large number of those suppressed emendations.

The remainder of this Preface has especial reference to the Old Testament. Nothing needs to be said about the various particular proposals which are found in the Appendix of the English Revised Version. But some remarks may be made concerning the General Classes of changes, therein specified, and also concerning those emendations in this edition which are additional to those prescribed in the Appendix.

I. The change first proposed in the Appendix—that which substitutes “Jehovah” for “LORD” and “GOD” (printed in small capitals)—is one of which will be unwelcome to many, because of the frequency and familiarity of the terms displaced. But the American Revisers, after a careful consideration, were brought to the unanimous conviction that a Jewish superstition, which regarded the Divine Name as too sacred to be uttered, ought no longer to dominate in the English or any other version of the Old Testament, as it fortunately does not in the numerous versions made by modern missionaries. This Memorial Name, explained in Ex. iii. 14, 15, and emphasized as such over and over in the original text of the Old Testament, designates God as the personal God, as the covenant God, the God of revelation, the Deliverer, the Friend of his people;—not merely the abstractly “Eternal One” of many French translations, but the ever living Helper of those who are in trouble. This personal name, with its wealth of sacred associations, is now restored to the place in the sacred text to which it has an unquestionable claim.

The uniform substitution of “Sheol” for “the grave,” “the pit,” and “hell,” in places where these terms have been retained by the English Revision, has little need of justification. The English Revisers use “Sheol” twenty-nine times out of the sixty-four in which it occurs in the original. No good reason has been given for such a discrimination. If the new term can be fitly used at all, it is clear that it ought to be used uniformly.

The use of “who” and “that” for “which,” when relating to persons, should commend itself to all as required by grammatical accuracy. The same remark applies to the substitution of “are” for “be” in indicative clauses, the omission of “for” before infinitives, and the change of “an” to “a” before “h” aspirated. The latter change was made in the English Revision of the New Testament, but not in that of the Old. Likewise we have uniformly adopted the modern spelling in place of antiquated forms. No one would advocate the resumption of the exact orthography of the edition of 1611. The mere fact that in a few cases an older form has happened to be retained constitutes no reason for its perpetual retention.

II. Inasmuch as the present edition differs from the English Revision not simply in presenting in the text the American preferences as given in the Appendix, a few remarks may be made with regard to the additional variations which will be found to exist.

1. As has already been intimated, this edition embodies a very considerable number of renderings originally adopted by the American Old Testament Company at their second revision (and so by a two-thirds majority), but waived when the Appendix was prepared. These represent the deliberate preference of the American Company; but, for reasons already assigned, they were not included in the Appendix.

2. Partly coinciding with the foregoing is a number of alterations which consist in a return to the readings of the Authorized Version. While in some cases the older readings, though inaccurate, seem to have been retained in the English Revision through an excessive conservatism, in others they have been abandoned needlessly, and sometimes to the injury of the sense and the sound. In such cases fidelity to the general principle that has governed us has required us to give the preference to the rendering of the Common Version. Among the many instances of these restorations we may note: Ex. xx. 4, 13; Lev. xix. 22; Ps. xlviii. 1; civ. 26; cxiv. 4; cxvi. 11; Prov. xiii. 15; Am. vi. 5.

3. Sometimes we have found occasion to recede from proposals originally made, when a more careful and mature consideration required us to do so. Besides individual cases, like Ps. lxxviii. 8; Ezek. v. 13, may be mentioned the fact that the requirement of the Appendix, that “be ashamed” should everywhere be changed to “be put to shame,” has been found to need qualification. While the change seems desirable in a majority of the instances, it is by no means so in all. We have therefore retained “ashamed” in a large number of passages; in some, however, we have preferred “confounded” as better suiting the connection.

4. Very many of the instances in which we have gone beyond the literal requirements of the Appendix are alterations demanded by consistency. Changes were originally proposed in certain passages only, though the reason for the changes equally requires them to be made in numerous others. Thus at Ps. xxxiii. 5, and in twenty-four other places, “justice” was to be put for “judgment.” But it is manifest that in a multitude of other passages there is equal need of the same alteration. We have accordingly undertaken to introduce it wherever the Hebrew word plainly has this abstract sense. For the same reason we have substituted “ordinance” for “judgment” in the numerous passages, like Lev. xviii. 4, where the word denotes, not a judicial sentence, threatened or inflicted, but a law of action. This rendering of the Hebrew word is found in the Authorized Version in some instances, and has been introduced by the Revised Version in a few more; but, since the English word “judgment” in common use never denotes a statute or command, it is manifestly desirable that “ordinance” should be used wherever the Hebrew word has this meaning.

Similarly, the English Revision in a few cases, and the Old Testament Appendix in a few more, put “despoil” for “spoil.” But the same reason which holds for those few is equally good for the numerous others in which this word occurs. The word “spoil” in the Authorized Version represents a great number of Hebrew words, some of which denote "lay waste," "ruin," or "destroy," rather than "despoil"; and as "spoil" has nearly lost in popular use its original meaning, and is liable to occasion misconception, we have replaced it by "despoil," "plunder," "ravage," and other terms, each as best adapted to the connection.

In like manner we have carried out another alteration which was made to a limited extent by the English Revisers—the distinction between the words "stranger" ("strange"), "foreigner" ("foreign"), and "sojourner." These renderings correspond fairly well to three distinct Hebrew words; there is no good reason why the correspondence should not be made uniform throughout. Likewise we have carried out consistently the substitution of "false," "falsehood," and other terms, for "vain," "vanity," where the meaning of the original requires it. Here too a beginning was made by us in the Appendix. Many other examples might be adduced.

Here may be mentioned also that changes made for the sake of euphemism have been considerably increased. It has not been possible in every case to find an appropriate substitute for terms which in modern times have become offensive; but when it has been possible, we have deemed it wise to make the change. Some of the words, as, for example, "bowels," are tolerable when used in their literal sense, but offensive when employed in a psychological sense. Thus, no other word would be appropriate in 2 Sam. xx. 10; but in Jer. iv. 19 or Lam. i. 20 to retain that term would be both unpleasant and incorrect. The conception of the writer is not really reproduced by a literal translation. The Hebrews were accustomed to attribute mental actions or emotions to various physical organs, whereas in English such a trope is limited almost entirely to "heart" and "brain." There is nowhere any occasion for using the latter of these in the Bible; consequently it is almost unavoidable that "heart" should often be used as the translation of different Hebrew words. All scholars know that the Hebrew word commonly rendered "heart" is used very largely to denote not so much the seat of the emotions, as the seat of thought. It is rendered in the Authorized Version more than twenty times by "mind," and might well be so rendered much oftener.

The word "reins" is one of those which in the Old Testament is used in a psychological relation. This word was retained by the English Revisers, and was also left without mention by the American Revisers when they prepared their Appendix. But if the synonymous word "kidneys" had been used in these passages, there would be an earnest and unanimous protest. In favor of the continued use of "reins," therefore, one can only urge the poor reason that most readers attach to it no meaning whatever. We have consequently regarded it as only a consistent carrying out of our general principle when we have uniformly substituted "heart" for it, whenever it is used in a psychological sense.

In this connection it may be remarked that, while the English Revisers, yielding to the urgent representations of the Americans, voted to substitute "its" for "his" or "her" when relating to impersonal objects not personified, the substitution was so imperfectly made that we have had occasion to supplement the work in some two hundred cases.

Furthermore, the general intention of the American Revisers to eliminate obsolete, obscure, and misleading terms, has been more fully carried out by replacing some expressions which were left unmentioned in the Appendix; e.g., "bolloed" (Ex. ix. 31), "in good liking" (Job xxxix. 4).

5. Closely connected with the foregoing are certain additional alterations which have seemed to be required by regard for pure English idiom.

We are by no means insensible to the justly lauded beauty and vigor of the style of the Authorized Version, nor do we forget that it has been no part of our task to modernize the diction of the Bible. But we are also aware that the rhetorical force and the antique flavor which we desire to retain do not consist in sporadic instances of uncouth, unidiomatic, or obscure phraseology. While we may freely admit that the English of the Scriptures can, as a whole, hardly be improved, yet it would be extravagant to hold that it cannot be bettered in any of its details. What was once good usage is often such no longer; and we can see no sound reason for retaining such expressions as "smell thereto" (Ex. xxx. 38), "forth of" (instead of "forth from"), "inquire at" (1 K. xxii. 5), "a fool's vexation is heavier than them both" (Prov. xxvii. 3), or "when . . . he be jealous over his wife" (Num. v. 30). These are only a few of the many instances of phraseology which there is the best reason for amending.

A change of a more general kind is the introduction of a greater degree of consistency and propriety in the use of the auxiliaries "will" and "shall." The latter is certainly used to excess in the Authorized Version, especially when connected with verbs denoting an action of the Divine Being; and the two are also often very inconsistently used, as may be observed in such a striking case as Ps. cxxi. 3, 4.

Again, the attempt to translate literally from the original has not infrequently led to Hebraisms which had better be avoided. Many of these have indeed become, as it were, naturalized in our language, and need not be disturbed. But others must be called bad and outlandish. Thus, in Ezek. xx. 17, we read, "mine eye spared them from destroying them," which is a very literal translation of the Hebrew, but very poor English.

Scarcely more tolerable is the expression, "that they may be to do the service" (Num. viii. 11), which also comes from over-literalness. To the same class belongs the phrase "by the hand of," as used after such expressions as "Jehovah spake" (or, "commanded"), e.g., in Num. xxvii. 23. This is indeed the literal rendering; but the Hebrew really means simply "through" or "by means of," and is in the majority of these instances in the Authorized Version rendered "by," but sometimes "by the hand of." Manifestly the simpler form is every way preferable; and the change, if any is made, should be in this direction, whereas in the English Revision "by" is, in nine cases out of forty-two, changed to "by the hand of." Similarly, "in the land," in Deut. v. 16 and in several other places, has been changed in the English Revision to "upon the land"; but as "land" is here equivalent to "country," "in the land" is clearly the most appropriate. In both these groups of cases we have everywhere adopted the idiomatic English, rather than the slavishly literal, rendering.

6. In introducing certain translations different from those of the English Revised Version, and also not directly or implicitly required by the Appendix, we have been governed by the conviction that, in cases where accuracy and perspicuity clearly required an emendation, we were fully warranted in resorting to it. We have been careful, in making these alterations, to consult the best authorities, and especially the recent carefully revised versions of the German, French, Dutch, Danish, Swedish, and Norwegian Bibles. Few certainly will object to such alterations as are found in Deut. xxxii. 14; Ju. v. 20; Is. xxx. 32; xxxv. 8; Hos. xi. 2; Mic. i. 6. We have also not hesitated to insert "the" before "Jordan" and other names of rivers. Likewise, as the English Revisers had with good reason removed the fabulous "unicorn" from the Old Testament, so we have removed the equally fabulous "dragon," as also the "arrow-snake" of the English Revision (Is. xxxiv. 15)—an animal unknown to zoology, the term having obviously been adopted through a too literal translation of the German word "Pfeilschlange."

7. Another particular in which we have to some extent deviated from the requirements of the Appendix relates to our treatment of the references in the margin to the readings of ancient versions. On account of the extreme difficulty of correcting the Hebrew text by means of those versions, we originally decided that it would be better to make no reference to them at all. The case is radically different from that of the New Testament, where the variant readings are mostly found in Greek manuscripts of the New Testament itself. The authorities referred to in the Old Testament are translations from the Hebrew; and though the date of these translations is more ancient than any extant manuscripts of the Hebrew Bible, yet there is no means of verifying with certainty the text of these translations; and one can never get beyond plausible conjecture in attempting to correct the Hebrew text by means of them. It is one thing to admit that the Hebrew text is probably corrupt here and there; quite another, to be sure how to rectify it. In the English Revision there are frequent references in the margin to the ancient versions. The most of these seem to us at the best of trivial importance, and have been dropped. A few represent only a different vocalization of the Hebrew. A certain number, however, have to do with variations of some importance and such as may, with considerable probability, be conjectured to represent the original Hebrew. We have therefore retained a little more than one-sixth of the references given in the English Revision, but have been careful to designate which of the ancient versions contain a specified reading, instead of making the vague, and often inaccurate, statement that "some" or "many" ancient versions present the reading in question.

8. Considerable attention has been paid to the paragraph divisions and to the punctuation. While the English Revisers did well to abandon the older way of making a paragraph of each verse, they often went to the opposite extreme of making the paragraphs excessively long, leaving in some cases whole pages without a break, as, for example, at Gen. xxiv. and Num. xxii.-xxiv. We have revised the paragraph divisions throughout, making them generally shorter, and sometimes altering the place of the division.

In the matter of punctuation, we have aimed to remove many inconsistencies found in previous editions, and also, while retaining the general system adopted by our predecessors, to make the book conform somewhat more nearly to modern usage. One result is a considerable reduction of the number of colons, which are often replaced by semicolons, occasionally by periods or commas. In some cases a change of punctuation has modified the sense; as, e.g., in Gen. ii. 5; xiv. 24; Ezek. xxix. 9, 10. We have also made much more frequent use of the hyphen than has been made in previous editions. In many instances we have recurred to the punctuation of the Authorized Version, especially where the English Revisers have departed from it out of an undue regard to the pausal accents of the Massoretic text; as, e.g., in Lev. vi. 7; Zech. xi. 16.

Earnestly hoping that our work may contribute to the better understanding of the Old Testament, we commend it to the considerate judgment of all students of the Sacred Scriptures.

Preface

WHY THIS BIBLE IS CALLED A CROSS-REFERENCE BIBLE.

Throughout this work will be found foot-notes, each foot-note containing nearly all important references on a given subject. These references are carefully classified under heads and sub-heads. In the text itself will be found small reference letters. These reference letters refer to a marginal index. This marginal index refers to other passages in the Bible and to these foot-notes, so that there is a double index from the text to the margin and the foot-notes, and from the foot-notes to the text, margin, and other foot-notes. Thus the references are continually crossing, and so this is a Cross-Reference Bible. For an illustration, see "HOW TO USE THIS BIBLE."

THE TOPICAL ANALYSIS.

In the preparation of the Topical Analysis of this edition of the Bible the editors have sought to give the entire teaching of the Bible on practically all of the important subjects. No one knows better than the editors the imperfections of this work. All that they claim is that it is the most complete analysis of the Bible ever produced in a single volume. No doubt the reader will find many things to criticise, for no two men see anything alike. This is especially true of the Bible. It is undoubtedly true that no two of the associate editors would have produced the same analysis. Therefore it was necessary for some one to make the final decision, and so the responsibility for all that is found in this analysis must rest upon the editor-in-chief. Great care has been taken to make this analysis accurate, undenominational, original, broad, and true to the Word. All the proofs of the foot-notes of the Old Testament were submitted to Drs. Sampey, Eiselen, and Torrey, and those of the New Testament to Drs. Zenos, Robertson, and Torrey, and they revised as they saw fit. Among the editors are three well-known evangelists, men who have been successful in reaching men and in dealing with the difficulties of every-day life. Three of these editors are members of the International Sunday School Lesson Committee. Several are professors in representative Theological Seminaries. So they represent many shades of thought. We have tried conscientiously to leave out all pet theories, and the editor-in-chief has asked but one question in his work—What does the Bible teach? Often he has been compelled to change his own previously formed opinions during the progress of his work. It must be remembered that this is the first extensive analysis of the American Standard Version—in fact, of any Revised Version—and therefore every passage had to be verified. While this has caused prodigious effort, it has added both to the originality and accuracy of the work. This analysis has been prepared for the average reader and not for the Bible scholar alone; thus we have paid but little attention to whether we were conforming to any systematic scheme of theology. Our only object has been so to index the contents of the Bible as to put them within the reach of the masses. We have made free use of Bible dictionaries, concordances and other Bible helps. In the preparation of this analysis we have not first of all formed a skeleton or outline for an article and then hunted up references to fit these outlines, but we have taken the passages themselves, using Strong's and Young's Concordances, and have actually read every passage, and from these passages we have prepared our analysis to meet the needs of the actual material. The editor-in-chief has sought to gather together the result of the best modern scholarship without regard to school or phase of thought and to put it in such shape that the faith of the reader in the unity of God's Word would be strengthened. But this leads us to give the following

CAUTION.

In the preparation of this analysis, as stated above, many men have taken part, and the utmost care has been taken to give to the world a Bible without bias, and representative of the best Christian thought. The editors have tried to keep their own opinions upon various subjects from becoming too prominent. We have had no purpose of presenting a commentary, but to index the Bible so that the material may be made more easily available. In other words, we have sought to do for the Bible what has been done for the lawyer with his law books. We have attempted to give a digest of the Bible, not a digested Bible. That would be too great a task. The reader is cautioned therefore against accepting as authoritative any Variorum Reading or Rendering in this Bible simply because it is found there. We simply give the translation and the authority. The reader must decide whether the authority is sufficient. Again, when the reader finds certain references under certain heads, he is cautioned against taking it for granted that these headings are always right, or that such passages should have been classified as they are. We give the references classified there with a view to convenience. We have tried to classify correctly, but, since there are so many differences of opinion and interpretation, the reader must take these references for himself and come to his own decision. In order to avoid all appearance of even seeming to present any particular phase of thought by forging a chain of references in such a way that they would present the editor's opinions, the books, chapters, and verses of the Bible are given in their regular order.

HOW TO USE THIS BIBLE.

If the reader will turn to page 1756, in the first line of the text he will find a reference letter ^a before the word "city." This letter is also found in the margin before the same word with a reference "Gen. 4:17." Now if the reader will turn to page 15 and verse 17 he will find the word "city" with a mark ‡ and at the foot of the page he will find the beginning of an article containing nearly all the references of the Bible on "Cities" all carefully classified under heads and sub-heads. In the same line on page 1756 will be found an asterisk before the word Nazareth. This refers to a foot-note on the same page on that subject. In the third line he will find the letter ^b, which refers to the margin, where is found a reference to "Gen. 3:15." Turning to Gen. 3:15, which is on page 11, he will find the beginning of an article on "Prophecies concerning Jesus, and their Fulfilment." In the same line is the letter ^c, which refers to "II Ki. 17:13" on page 676. So throughout the Bible. The reference letter refers to the margin. Where there is a title in the margin in connection with this reference, the reference refers to a foot-note on the same page on which the reference is found. In the fifth line is the letter ^d, which refers to "Mark 1:42." This is simply a reference to the text and not to a foot-note. Frequently references are made to the text in other parts of the Bible where marginal reference will be found similar to this one, but no foot-note. In the fourth line will be found the figure ¹ referring to the margin, where will be found the letter Q. All quotations from the Old Testament found in the New Testament are thus indicated by this letter. In the sixth line will be found the letter ^e. This letter refers to several references in the margin preceded by the letter P. All references to parallel passages, either in the Gospels or other books of the Bible, are thus marked with the letter P. Where a reference in the margin refers to a topic in another part of the Bible, and chapter and verse are given, if there is some mark found in this given verse, then a foot-note will be found on that page. If not, references will be found in the margin. It will be noticed that the references in the margin are divided under verse numbers to correspond with the text. While we have tried to put these marginal references opposite the text as far as possible, yet owing to the large number of such references we have not always been able to do so. But all references in the text refer to references in the margin under corresponding verse numbers. Every page is indexed independently, without reference to any other page. Owing to the large number of references, we have usually tried to have only one reference to a subject on a page. If therefore the reader finds a certain subject in a certain verse with no reference letter, he will probably find a reference to the same subject elsewhere in the margin of the same page.

OUTLINE STUDIES IN THE BOOKS OF THE BIBLE have been prepared by the following editors: All those on the Books of the Old Testament from Genesis to Psalms, inclusive, and the Book of Daniel, have been prepared by Dr. Zenos; the outlines on "Wisdom Literature" and Proverbs have been taken from "The Literary Study of the Bible," by Dr. Richard G. Moulton. This has been done with the consent of both author and publishers.

The Introductions to Ecclesiastes, The Song of Solomon, Isaiah, Jeremiah, and Ezekiel have been written by Dr. Sampey and those on the Minor Prophets by Professor Clinton J. Lockhart. Dr. A. F. Robertson has written all the Studies in the Books of the New Testament.

THE AMERICAN STANDARD REVISED TEXT, USED BY PERMISSION OF THOMAS NELSON AND SONS, IS THE TEXT OF THIS BIBLE. The marginal readings of this text will be printed in italics and will be indicated by numerals in the body of the text. Where there is a difference between the American Revision and the English Revision, the Rendering of the English Revision is given in the Variorum Renderings.

SEVEN OF THE REASONS WHY THE AMERICAN STANDARD BIBLE IS THE BEST VERSION OF THE SCRIPTURES IN ANY LANGUAGE. Never before in the history of Bible translation and revision has there been such an immediate and hearty acceptance of the work of the translators as has been accorded that of the American Committee. This is due to many causes: 1. The recognized reverent scholarship of the Committee. 2. The representation on the Committee of every phase of Evangelical belief. 3. The extreme care and deliberation of the work, covering a period of nearly 30 years. 4. The wealth of new material at the command of the Committee, older and more authentic manuscripts, and tablets and papyri recovered and deciphered from cities which had been buried for centuries. 5. England, Germany, France, Holland, Denmark, Sweden, and Norway have all made recent revisions of the Bible, thus showing that Christian scholars the world over have felt the necessity of a better revision of the Scriptures. 6. The American Committee had for reference and comparison all these recent revisions made by other countries, thus giving them the advantage of the accumulated Christian scholarship of the world. 7. Since the translation and revision of the King James Bible in 1611, many words have become obsolete, and many others have entirely changed their meaning. Upwards of forty English dictionaries have been issued in order to keep pace with the changes in the language.

WHAT ARE VARIORUM RENDERINGS AND READINGS? The Standard Dictionary defines "Variorum" as, "Having notes or comments by different critics or editors." By "Variorum Readings" we mean those readings or passages from other manuscripts not adopted by the American Revisers in the body of the text; by "Variorum Renderings" we mean the translations from the original languages by various scholars.

Arrangements have been made with Messrs. Eyre and Spottiswoode of England, by which we use the VARIORUM RENDERINGS AND READINGS of their "VARIORUM BIBLE," edited by T. K. Cheyne, S. R. Driver, and W. Sanday. These Renderings and Readings are given just as they appear in the "Variorum Bible." But only those Renderings and Readings which differ from the American Standard Revised Text are quoted. The "Variorum" Bible, published by Messrs. Eyre and Spottiswoode, while it is the best of its kind, gives only the Renderings and Readings from authors prior to 1888, and practically excludes American authors. We quote from such American authors as W. R. Harper, C. A. Briggs, Marvin R. Vincent, W. H. Green, Philip Schaff, H. B. Hackett, M. B. Riddle, G. B. Gray, George F. Moore, Paul Haupt, C. H. Toy, E. D. Burton, John A. Broadus, H. G. Mitchell, E. P. Gould, G. A. Barton, and J. W. McGarvey. All of the Renderings given by Messrs. Cheyne, Driver, and Sanday will be marked by having the abbreviated names of the scholars quoted printed in italics. To these Renderings will be added the Renderings by OVER 150 OF THE GREATEST BIBLE SCHOLARS OF THE WORLD, WRITING SINCE 1900, and even of those writing in 1909. This list of commentators will include the names of all of the authors of the "Hand Kommentar zum Alten Testament," the "Kurzer-Hand Kommentar zum Alten Testament," the "Hand Kommentar zum Neuen Testament," the authors of the volumes so far published of the "International and Critical Commentary," "The Expositor's Greek Testament," the "Westminster Commentaries," and the "New Century Bible," and most of the authors of the "Strack-Zöckler Commentaries" and "Kautzsch's Bible"; also the names of many other scholars. This list has been submitted to several representative Bible scholars, and has been approved by them as containing the names of the foremost modern Biblical scholars. The abbreviated names of these writers will be printed in capital letters after each Rendering to distinguish between those given by Messrs. Cheyne, Driver, and Sanday and those given by the editor-in-chief.

Permission has been granted by Messrs. Dodd, Mead & Co. to use the Readings from ancient MSS. quoted in their "EXPOSITOR'S GREEK TESTAMENT," published in 4 vols. at $7.50 per vol.

All Variorum Renderings and Readings have been edited by the editor-in-chief. Those in the first seven books of the Bible were read in proof by Dr. M. S. Terry; but, unfortunately, Dr. Terry became ill and was unable to continue the work. Where Readings are given by the editor-in-chief, if from ancient MSS., they will be included in parentheses; if from commentaries, the names of authorities will be in capital letters. Great care has been taken to have these Renderings and Readings given accurately; and translations have been made directly from German texts. After they were printed they were verified with the original text. The editor wishes to acknowledge his indebtedness to Mr. D. H. Schroeder for valuable assistance in German translation. In making these translations, beauty of English has been sacrificed for the sake of accuracy of translation. In the use of commentaries from which these Renderings have been taken only one question has been asked: Is the commentator a representative scholar, having a reputation as such outside of his own country? It will be noticed that a very large percentage of these men are recognized as belonging to what is known as the critical school, and many of their renderings reflect critical theories. If the editor had rejected these men because of this fact, or if a Variorum Bible had been prepared without the translations of these men, we would have produced a book not worthy of the approval of modern scholarship. Of course, the editor does not agree with many of the translations given. Necessarily, many of them cannot be right since they are diametrically opposed to each other, but what we have tried to do is to give to the reader the results of the study of the best scholarship of the world representing various phases of thought. In doing this we have not raised the question of source; and while we have occasionally mentioned the fact that certain passages are said to be "glosses," usually we have done this only where such a "gloss" was a small part of the Scriptures and where the meaning of the translation was affected. The editors of this Bible represent many phases of thought and differ widely. They would probably not have agreed upon any work entering into the question of composite authorship.

2. NAMES OF TRANSLATORS, ETC.

Aq.—Aquila, a Jewish proselyte of Sinope in Pontus; his work, which is in Greek and painfully literal, is only extant in the fragments of Origen's Hexapla. Date, about middle of second century A.D.

Jer.—St. Jerome's Latin translation of the Psalms, made directly from the Hebrew. The Vulgate version of the Psalms is St. Jerome's revision of the Old Latin Psalter, which was based upon the Septuagint.

Jerus., Ps.—Jon.—The Jerusalem Targum (i.e. interpretation, translation, viz. in Chaldee or West Aramaic) of the Pentateuch. Extant in two recensions; the one, sometimes called the Targum of Pseudo-Jonathan, entire, and belonging to the seventh century A.D.; the other fragmentary and considerably earlier.

Jos.—Josephus, Jewish historian (died A.D. 95).

Onk.—The Chaldee (rather, West Aramaic) Targum or translation of the Pentateuch, ascribed to Onkelos. Thrown into its present form about end of third century A.D. on the basis of an ancient Palestinian Targum, by learned men at Babylon. Very literal, except in poetical passages.

Pesh.—The Peshitto, i.e. "simple" or faithful; a Syriac (rather, East Aramaic) version, made for Christian readers from the Hebrew, though influenced frequently by Jewish exegesis, and in parts (e.g. in the Psalms) by the Septuagint. Date, not later than second or third century.

R—Revised Version of 1885.

R marg.—Margin of do.

A. v.—Authorised Version.

Saad.—Rabbi Saadyah Gaon (died 942 A.D.). Arabic translation of most of the Old Testament, of which, however, only the Pentateuch, Song of Songs, Isaiah, and parts of Job, Psalms, and Proverbs, have been published.

Sam.—The Hebrew Pentateuch as read by the Samaritans. In character, its text agrees with that used by the Septuagint.

Sept.—The Septuagint. An aggregate of Greek translations made in Egypt by Hellenistic Jews. The oldest and best is that of the Pentateuch (third century B.C.); the latest, those of the Hagiographa (mostly finished before 130 B.C.). More valuable for criticism of the text than for interpretation.

Symm.—Symmachus, probably a Hellenistic Jew. Date, close of second century A.D. More elegant in style than Aquila; fragmentary.

Targ.—Various Targums, or Chaldee versions, particularly that of the books of Joshua, Judges, Samuel, Kings, and the Prophets (except Daniel), ascribed to Jonathan ben Uzziel. Thrown into its present form in Babylon—probably some time after the Targum of the Pentateuch (see 'onk.'). In style paraphrastic. The Targums of the other books are of late and uncertain date, and of inferior value.

Theod.—Theodotion, a Jewish proselyte of Ephesus. His Greek version of Daniel was (according to a common opinion) substituted by the Christians for that given by the Septuagint, as being more accurate. The rest of his translation (which seems to have been based on the Septuagint) is only extant in the fragments of Origer's Hexapla. Date, probably not later than Aquila.

Vulg.—The Vulgate, or Latin translation of the Bible, by St. Jerome. The Old Testament was done in the main from the Hebrew; date of its completion, 405 A.D.

NOTE 1. Notes of the form Vulg. (MSS.), Sept. (Cod. Al.), mean that the reading or rendering is not found in the ordinary texts of the Vulgate or Septuagint, but is supported by particular MSS., or by the MS. cited. The abbreviation MSS. is sometimes used to indicate a small number of MSS.

2. (On notes of the form Heb. marg.) There is a certain number of places in the Old Testament in which Jewish tradition itself has introduced what may be termed an "authorised correction" of the text, noting the alteration in the margin, and directing the reader to substitute it for what he finds in the text. These marginal corrections are found in all MSS. and Hebrew Bibles. They are by no means always critically preferable; sometimes they merely attempt to obviate an unusual, but defensible, grammatical form.

3. When (L.) is appended to a Various Reading, it means that the proposed correction differs from the ordinary reading only in the form of one or two letters, which may have been mistaken by the scribe. On the contrary, (pt.), or (pts.); signifies that the correction does not differ in the letters, but only in one or more of the vowel-points attached to them.

4. The readings of the Hebrew MSS. are as a rule cited from De Rossi's Varia Lectiones Veteris Testamenti (Parma, 1784–1788), and his Scholia Critica (Parma, 1798); those of the St. Petersburg MS. of A.D. 916 (containing Isaiah, Jeremiah, Ezekiel, and the 12 Minor Prophets) from the facsimile published by Dr. Hermann Strack in 1876.

5. The Septuagint is cited, except where stated otherwise, from Tischendorf's edition; Dr. Swete's edition (vol. I, as far as II Kings) arriving too late to be generally used: the variations which it exhibits from Tischendorf's text, however, are rarely of a character to affect quotations such as those in the present volume. Lucian's recension of the Septuagint, published (as far as Esther) by Lagarde (Göttingen, 1883), is referred to as Sept. (Luc.). The Peshitto is cited from the edition of Dr. Lee, the Targums from Walton, Berliner, and Lagarde, the Vulgate partly from Heyse's edition of the Codex Amiatinus, partly from the Clementine text, and Aq. Symm. Theod. from Dr. Field's Oxford edition of the Hexapla.

Vulg.—The Old Latin as revised by Jerome with the help of Greek MSS., A.D. 383–5; the oldest MS. was written before 546 A.D.

Syriac.

Cur.—The Curetonian Syriac. Probably an old form of the Syriac Version made in the second century; considerable fragments exist in a MS. of the fifth century.

Syriac—Continued.

Syr. Sin.—Syriac Sinaitic (recently discovered).
Pesh.—The Peshitto Syriac. Apparently a revised form of the above; exists in many old MSS., the oldest of the fifth century.

Egyptian.

Memph.—The Memphitic Version. In the dialect of Lower Egypt; made probably not later than the third century.
Theb.—The Thebaic Version. In the dialect of Upper Egypt; about the same date as the Memphitic; some MSS. attributed to the fourth century, but probably somewhat later.

4. MANUSCRIPTS.

NOTE.—In the citation of the MSS., and the several handwritings in them, Tischendorf's notation has been followed. The citations of MSS. have been taken from the editions of Tischendorf, Tregelles, and Alford; usually the first: the accounts of the MSS., from Tischendorf and Scrivener.

Ⲁ (i.e. Aleph, first letter of Hebrew alphabet). Codex Sinaiticus, now at St. Petersburg; discovered by Tischendorf in 1859 in the Convent of St. Catherine on Mount Sinai. Contains a large part of the Septuagint and the whole New Testament. Written, in Tischendorf's judgment, about the middle of the fourth century A.D. and at Alexandria; others have thought at Cæsarea in Palestine. Corrected in some places by later hands, Ⲁ² of the fourth century, Ⲁ³, about the sixth century, Ⲁ⁴ or Ⲁ⁵, early in the seventh century, Ⲁ⁶, of the seventh century. The first hand is denoted by Ⲁ or Ⲁ*. (See note on following page.)

A Codex Alexandrinus, in the British Museum; presented to Charles I in 1628 by Cyril Lucar, Patriarch, first, of Alexandria, then of Constantinople. Contains the Septuagint almost complete, the whole New Testament, except St. Matthew i.–xxv. 6, St. John vi. 50–viii. 52, and II Cor. iv. 13–xii. 6. Date (first hand denoted by A or A*), middle of the fifth century or earlier, corrected in a few places by later hands (A² and A³); corrections which may probably have been made

- by the original scribe himself are denoted by A*. May have been written at Alexandria, but "it exhibits, especially in the Gospels, a text more nearly approaching that found in later copies than is found in most of its high antiquity."—Scrivener.
- B Codex Vaticanus, in the Vatican Library at Rome. Contains nearly all the Septuagint and all the New Testament except Hebrews ix. 14, to end, I and II Timothy, Titus, Philemon, Revelation; the missing parts of Hebrews and Revelation have been supplied by a late hand, probably of the fifteenth century. First hand (B or B*) of the fourth century. Tischendorf thinks that the copyist who wrote out this MS. was one of the two scribes who produced the original Sinaitic MS. of the New Testament. Ceriani and Dr. Hort think that it was written in Italy, De Rossi that it was written in the East, and several scholars have supposed that this MS., like the Sinaitic, was written at Casarea in Palestine. Corrected in some places by later hands, B², of the fourth or fifth century, B³, of the tenth or eleventh century.
- B (Revelation). Also in the Vatican. Contains Revelation. About 800 A.D.
- C Codex Ephraemi Syri Rescriptus. So called because certain tracts by St. Ephraem the Syrian had been copied upon it above the old writing. Now in the National Library at Paris. Mutilated, containing about half the New Testament, no single book being entire. First hand (C or C*) of the fifth century, Alexandrine, or at least Egyptian, Tischendorf thinks; later hands, C², of the sixth century, apparently Syrian or Egyptian, C³, of ninth century, Constantinopolitan.
- D (Gospels and Acts). Codex Bezae. In the University Library at Cambridge; presented to the University in 1581 by Theodore Beza. Contains the Gospels and Acts in Greek and Latin, except a few chapters. The first hand (D or D*) of the sixth century. Written in the West. Some of the missing portions are supplied, "perhaps from the original leaves," by a hand of about the tenth century (D^{supp}). Has many words and some passages not found in other MSS.
- D (Epistles). Codex Claromontanus. In the National Library at Paris. Contains the Epistles of St. Paul in Greek and Latin. Written (D or D*) in the sixth century in North Africa by a Greek of Alexandria, Tischendorf thinks—in any case in the West; meant for the use of a Latin church. Corrected by later hands, both Greek, D², of the seventh century, D³, early in the ninth.
- E (Gospels). Codex Basilensis, in the Public Library at Basle, apparently brought thither from Constantinople. Contains the Gospels, except a few verses of St. Luke. Eighth century.
- E (Acts). Codex Laudianus, now at Oxford; presented to the University by Archbishop Laud in 1636. Contains the Acts in Greek and Latin, except about two chapters. Date, about 600 A.D. Apparently written in Sardinia, for use in a Latin church, but some think at Rome.
- E (Epistles). Codex Sangermanensis, now at St. Petersburg. An inexact copy of D Claromontanus. Ninth century.
- F (Epistles). Codex Augiensis; in the Library of Trinity College, Cambridge. Contains the Pauline Epistles in Greek and Latin, except a few passages; the Greek text of the Epistle to the Hebrews is also missing. Ninth century.
- G (Epistles). Codex Boernerianus; in the Royal Library at Dresden. Contains the Pauline Epistles, except the Hebrews, with some omissions. It has much resemblance to Codex Augiensis, F, and Scrivener believes that both were copied from one MS. some centuries older than either. Originally formed part of the same MS. as Δ.
- H (Gospels). Codex Andr. Seidelii, now at Hamburg. Contains the Gospels, with many omissions. Ninth or tenth century.
- H (Acts). Codex Mutinensis; at Modena. Contains part of the Acts. Ninth century.
- H (Epistles). Codex Coislinianus Parisiensis. Part now at Paris, part at St. Petersburg. Contains fragments of eight of the Pauline Epistles. Sixth century.
- K (Gospels). Codex Cyprius Parisiensis. In the National Library at Paris. Contains the Gospels. Ninth century.
- K (Epistles). Codex Mosquensis. At Moscow. Contains the Epistles, except about 12 chapters. Ninth century.
- L (Gospels). Codex Parisiensis Regius. In the National Library at Paris. Contains the Gospels, except a few passages. Eighth century. Often agrees with Codd. Σ, B.
- L (Acts and Epistles). Codex Angelicus Romanus, belonging to the Augustinian monks at Rome. Contains Acts from viii. 10, and Epistles, except a few verses. Of ninth century.
- Z Codex Palimpsestus Dublinensis. In Library of Trinity College, Dublin. Passages of Chrysostom and Epiphanius written over the old writing, in a hand of the tenth century or later. Contains part of St. Matthew. Sixth century.
- Γ (i.e. Gamma). Part at Oxford, part at St. Petersburg. Contains the Gospels nearly entire. Dated 979 A.D. (Gardthausen).
- Δ (i.e. Delta). Codex Sangallensis. In the Monastery of St. Gall in N. E. Switzerland. Contains the Gospels, except part of St. John. The text is more important in St. Mark than in the other Gospels. "Written by Latin (most probably by Irish) monks in the west of Europe during the ninth [rather tenth] century."—Scrivener.
- Π Codex Petrolitonus Tisch. Ninth century (Gospels nearly complete).
- Ξ (i.e. Xi). Codex Zacynthius. In the Library of the British and Foreign Bible Society, London. Contains considerable portions of St. Luke. Like Z, a palimpsest, the original hand being probably of the eighth century.

References of the forms Σ, B, C*, &c., are used to denote the original reading of the MSS. Σ, B, C, etc., in cases where a later hand has introduced an alteration. In passages which have not been touched by the later hands, the first hand is denoted by Σ, B, C, &c., simply.

B^{corr}, C^{corr}, and the like are sometimes used to denote one or more of the correctors, or later hands, of the MS. in question, where it has not been thought worth while to distinguish these hands from one another.

Cri (i.e. C, ut videtur) and the like denote that the editor from whom the citation is taken is not quite sure that he has rightly read the passage in question in the particular MS.

NOTE.—There are many passages in which a critical editor does not satisfy himself that one of two rival readings is confidently to be preferred to the other, the evidence being divided. In such cases a figure (¹, ²) has been appended to the name of the editor in question; the former showing that the reading is judged on the whole the more probably correct by the editor, the latter that it is judged the less probable by him. It should be said, however, that the preference thus indicated is in some cases more decided than in others.

The readings which Drs. Westcott and Hort print in their margin within the signs ⋈ are not as such noticed in this edition. It is expressly stated that these readings, though mentioned as containing matter of interest and as possibly derived "from some extraneous source," are not considered to possess any claim to admission into the text, and therefore they are not true alternatives. The important readings which the same editors enclose in double brackets are regarded by them as interpolations which, though added to the text at a very early date, did not originally form part of it.

HOW TO USE THE VARIORUM READINGS.

A section of the text of the American Version is given first. Where this section is long, usually only the first and last words are given. Three points between these words usually indicate that the variant rendering, or reading is to be substituted for all that is included in and between these first and last words. The section is followed by a — and those authorities agreeing with the translators of the American Version are given, their names being preceded by the word "So." All authorities quoted from the "Variorum Bible" are in italics and those quoted by the editor are given in capital letters. Where manuscripts such as N, B, C, etc., are quoted by the editor and not by the "Variorum Bible," they are inclosed in parentheses.

When an alteration is introduced by the word "Or," it implies that the renderings of the American Standard Version appear defensible, though the alternative rendering has been adopted by the authority mentioned. "Alt." signifies that the rendering in question is given as an alternative by the authority cited.

"Omit," followed by the name of a critic, denotes that the editor in question judges that the words referred to did not form part of the original text of the Bible.

In the Various Readings notes of the form "Gr. (after Sept.)" imply that the reading in question has been suggested to the critic named by the version that is cited, but is not the reading actually expressed by it. Explanatory words are printed in italics; those which are given as substitutes or alternatives for something in the text are printed in Roman type.

KEY TO THE SIGNS USED IN THIS BIBLE.

The pronunciation adopted in this Bible, and the diacritical marks used to express it, are based (by arrangement with the publishers, G. and C. Merriam and Co.) on Webster's International Dictionary (latest edition). This will be found a great convenience, as Webster's marks are more or less familiar to almost every reader.

To make the system of pronunciation as thorough as possible, every syllable of the Proper Names is indicated, and every vowel is diacritically marked. Further, those consonants are also marked which are capable of more than one pronunciation.

Syllables are indicated by a hyphen (-), while those on which stress has to be laid are marked with an accent ('). In the case of compound names as given in the Authorized Version, the proper accent of each name is given where necessary, and the component parts indicated by a double hyphen (--).

And they said, This one fellow came in to sojourn, and he will needs be a ^b judge: now will we deal worse with thee, than with them. And they pressed sore upon the man, even Lot, and drew near to break the door. 10 But the men put forth their ^c hand, and brought Lot into the house to them, and shut to the door. 11 And ^d they smote the men that were at the door of the house with ⁱ blindness, both small and great, so that they wearied themselves to find the door.

12 And the men said unto Lot, Hast thou here any besides? son-in-law, and thy sons, and thy daughters, and whomsoever thou hast in the city, bring them out of the place: 13 for we will destroy this place, because the cry of them is waxed great before Jē-hō-vāh; and Jē-hō-vāh hath sent us to destroy it. 14 And Lot went out, and spake unto his sons-in-law, who ^g married his daughters, and said, Up, get you out of this place; for Jē-hō-vāh ^h will destroy the city. But he seemed unto his sons-in-law as one that mocked. 15 And when the ^k morning arose, then the angels hastened Lot, saying, Arise, take thy ⁱ wife, and thy two daughters that are here, this, Abraham ^a buried ^b Sarah his ^c wife in the cave of the field of ^d Mäeh-pēlāh before Mām'rē (the same is ^e Hēlbrōn), in the land of ^f Cā'nāan. 20 And the field, and the cave that is therein, were made sure unto Abraham for a possession of a burying-place by the children of Heth.

10 And the servant took ten ^y camels, of the camels of his master, and departed, ¹ having all ^z goodly things of his master's in his hand: and he arose, and went to ^a ² Mēs-ō-pō-tā'mi-ā, unto the city of ^b Nā'hôr. 11 And he made the camels to kneel down without the ^c city by the ^d well of water at the time of ^e evening, the time that women ^f go out to draw water. 12 And he said, O Jē-hō'vāh, the God of my master ^g Abraham, send me, ^h I pray thee, good speed this day, and show ⁱ kindness unto my master Abraham. 13 Behold, I am standing by the fountain of water; and the daughters of the ^j men of the city are coming out to draw water: 14 and let it come to pass, that the damsel to whom I shall say, Let down thy ^k pitcher, I pray thee, that I may drink; and she shall say, Drink, and I will give thy camels drink also: let the same be she that thou hast appointed for thy servant Īšāae; and thereby shall I know that thou hast showed kindness unto my master. 15 And it came to pass, before he had done speaking, that, behold, ^l Rē-bēk'āh came out, who was born to ^m Bē-thū'ēl the son of ⁿ Mīl'ēāh, the wife of ^o Nā'hôr, Abraham's brother, with her pitcher upon her shoulder. 16 And the damsel was very fair to look upon, a ^p virgin, neither had any man known her: and she went down to the ^q fountain, and filled her pitcher, and came up. 17 And the servant ran to meet her, and said, Give

* SYRIA, Aram. "Mount-up."—The Wall of Mountains North of Palestine extending from the Mediterranean to the Euphrates, with Damascus as its Capital—Num. 23:7; II Sam. 8:5-6; Is. 7:8. Originally it was much more spacious, including Mesopotamia—Gen. 24:10; 25:20; 28:5.

Divided into Provinces.—Zobah and Rehoh, Geshur, Hamath, Damascus—I Sam. 14:47; II Sam. 8:3, 5, 6, 9, 10; 10:6-8; 15:8; I Ki. 11:23; I Chr. 18:5, 9; 19:6; Jer. 39:5.

Chief Towns: Antioch, Damascus, Palmyra, Laodicea, Hamath, Hierapolis, Baalbec, Aleppo. Mountain—Hermon—Deut. 4:48; Josh. 11:17; 12:1; I Chr. 5:23.

Occupants.—The Hamites, first; then a Shemite (Semitic) Element entered from the Southeast, i. e. Abraham, Chedolamer, Amraphel.

Conquest by David.—After the Days of Abraham, Syria first appears in Scripture as a Confederate against David, with Hadadezer, King of Zobah—I Sam. 8:3. Syria submits to David—II Sam. 8:4-5. David puts Garrisons throughout the Land—(II Sam. 8:6). In the Days of Solomon, Syria revolted under Rezon of Zobah, and Damascus was recaptured—I Ki. 1:23-25.

Further Strife of the Kings.—Benhadad. This was the Name of three Kings of Damascus. (1) Benhadad I was the Son of Tabrimmon and Grandson of Hezion—I Ki. 15:18. He entered into an Alliance with Asa, King of Judah, against Israel—I Ki. 15:18-20. Elisha anoints Hazael to be King and deplores his future development—I Ki. 19:15. (2) Benhadad II. This King had many Wars with Israel, but was eventually defeated—I Ki. 20:29-32. His Prestige shown in the 3 Vassal Kings who accompanied him to the Siege of Samaria—I Ki. 20:1. In Second Siege of Samaria a Famine resulted, and during a Providential Panic the Syrians fled in Confusion—II Ki. 7:1-7. The King becoming ill, Hazael smothers him and seizes the Throne—II Ki. 8:7-15. The new King greatly oppressed Israel, but Relief came through his Death—II Ki. 13:22-24. (3) Benhadad III. This King was Hazael's Son.

He was unsuccessful, Jehoash recapturing the Cities which were previously lost—II Ki. 13:25. Jeroboam II followed up this Advantage, and in a subsequent Reign the Syrian Kingdom, under Rezin, makes an Alliance with Israel against Abaz, King of Judah—Is. 7:17.

37 And ^a Jacob took him rods of fresh ^{b1} poplar, and of the almond and of the plane-tree; and peeled white streaks in them, and made the white appear which was in the rods. 38 And he set the rods which he had peeled over against the flocks in the gutters in the watering-troughs where the flocks came to drink; and they conceived when they came to drink. 39 And the flocks conceived before the rods, and the flocks ^c brought forth ringstreaked, speckled, and spotted. 40 And Jacob separated the ^d lambs, and set the faces of the flocks toward the ringstreaked and all the black in the flock of ^e Lā'bán: and he put his own droves apart, and put them not unto Lā'bán's flock. 41 And it came to pass, whenever the stronger of the flock did conceive, that Jacob laid the rods before the eyes of the flock in the gutters, that they might conceive among the rods; 42 but when the flock were feeble, he put them not in: so the feebler were Lā'bán's, and the stronger Jacob's. 43 And the man increased exceedingly, and had large flocks, and ^f maid-servants and men-servants, and ^g camels and ^h asses.

31 And he heard the words of Lā'bán's sons, saying, Jacob hath taken away ⁱ all that was our father's; and of that which was our father's hath he gotten all this ^{j2} glory. 2 And Jacob beheld the countenance of Lā'bán, and, behold, it was not toward him as beforetime. 3 And Jê-hô'vâh said unto Jacob, Return unto the ^k land of thy ^l fathers, and to thy ^m kindred;

his brethren. And Tā'mār went and dwelt in her father's house.

12 And in process of time Shū'ā's daughter, the wife of Jū'dāh, died; and Jū'dāh was comforted, and went up unto his ^asheep-shearers to ^bTim'nāh, he and his friend Hī'rāh the Ā-dūl'lām-ite. 13 And it was told Tā'mār, saying, Behold, thy ^cfather-in-law goeth up to Tim'nāh to shear his sheep. 14 And she put off from her the ^dgarments of her ^ewidowhood, and ^fcovered herself with her veil, and wrapped herself, and sat in the ^ggate of ^hĒ-nā'īm, which is by the way to Tim'nāh; for she saw that Shē'lāh was grown up, and she was not given unto him to wife. 15 When Jū'dāh saw her, he thought her to be a ⁱharlot; for she had covered her face. 16 And he turned unto her by the way, and said, Come, I pray thee, let me come in unto thee: for he knew not that she was his daughter-in-law. And she said, What wilt thou give me, that thou mayest come in unto me? 17 And he said, I will send thee a kid of the ^jgoats from the flock. And she said, Wilt thou give me a ^kpledge, till thou send it? 18 And he said, What pledge shall I give thee? And she said, Thy ^lsignet and thy cord, and thy ^mstaff that is in thy hand. And he gave them to her, and came in unto her, and she conceived by him. 19 And she arose, and went away, and put off her veil from her, and put on the garments of her widowhood. 20 And Jū'dāh sent the kid of the goats by the ⁿhand of his ^ofriend the ^pĀ-dūl'lām-ite, to receive the pledge from the woman's hand: but he found her not. 21 Then he asked the men of her place, saying, Where is the ¹prostitute, that was at Ē-nā'īm by the wayside? And they said, There hath been no prostitute here. 22 And he returned to Jū'dāh, and said, I have not found her; and also the men of the place said, There hath been no prostitute here. 23 And Jū'dāh said, Let her take it to her, lest we be put to shame: behold, I sent this kid, and thou hast not found her.

24 And it came to pass about three months after, that it was told ^qJū'dāh, saying, ^rTā'mār thy ^sdaughter-in-law hath played the harlot; and moreover, behold, she is with child by whoredom. And Jū'dāh said, Bring her forth, and ^tlet her be burnt. 25 When she was brought forth, she sent to her father-in-law, saying, By the man, whose these are, am I with child: and she said, Discern, I pray thee, whose are these, the signet, and the cords, and the staff. 26 And Jū'dāh acknowledged them, and said, She is more ^vrighteous than I, forasmuch as ^wI gave her not to ^xShē'lāh my son. And he knew her again no more. 27 And it came to pass in the time of her travail, that, behold, ^ytwins were in her

And Phā'raōh awoke, and, behold, it was a dream. 8 And it came to pass in the morning that his ^a spirit was troubled; and he sent and called for all the ^b magicians of ^c Ēġypt, and all the ^d wise men thereof: and Phā'raōh told them his dream; but there was none that could interpret them unto Phā'raōh.

9 Then spake the chief butler unto Phā'raōh, saying, I ^e do remember my faults this day: 10 Phā'raōh was wroth with his servants, and put me in ward in the house of the captain of the guard, me and the chief baker: 11 and we dreamed a dream in one night, I and he; we dreamed each man according to the interpretation of his dream. 12 And there was with us there a young man, a Hebrew, servant to the captain of the guard; and we told him, and he interpreted to us our dreams; to each man according to his dream he did interpret. 13 And it came to pass, ^f as he interpreted to us, so it was; ^g ⁴ me he restored unto mine office, and him he ^h hanged.

14 Then ⁱ Phā'raōh sent and called ^j Joseph, and they brought him hastily out of the ^k dungeon: and he shaved himself, and changed his ^l raiment, and came in unto Phā'raōh. 15 And Phā'raōh said unto Joseph, I have dreamed a dream, and there is none that can interpret it: and I have heard say of thee, that when thou hearest a dream thou canst interpret it. 16 And Joseph answered Phā'raōh, saying, It is not in me: ^m God will give Phā'raōh an answer of ⁿ peace. 17 And Phā'raōh spake unto Joseph, In my dream, behold, I stood upon the brink of the ^o river: 18 and, ^p behold, there came up out of the river seven ^q kine, fat-fleshed and well-favored; and they fed in the ^r reed-grass: 19 and, behold, seven other kine came up after them, poor and very ill-favored and lean-fleshed, such as I never saw in all the ^s land of Ēġypt for badness: 20 and the lean and ill-favored kine did eat up the first seven fat kine: 21 and when they had eaten them up, it could not be known that they had eaten them; but they were still ill-favored, as at the beginning. So I awoke. 22 And I saw in my dream, and, behold, ^t seven ^u ears came up upon one stalk, full and good: 23 and, behold, seven ears, withered, thin, and blasted with the ^v east wind, sprung up after them: 24 and the thin ears swallowed up the seven good ears: and I told it unto the magicians; but there was none that could declare it to me.

25 And Joseph said unto Phā'raōh, The dream of Phā'raōh is one: what God is about to do he hath declared unto Phā'raōh. 26 The ^x seven good kine are seven ^y years; and the seven good ears are seven years: the dream is one. 27 And the seven lean and ill-favored kine that came up after them are seven years, and also the seven empty ears blasted with the east wind; they shall be seven years of ^z famine. 28 That is the thing which I spake unto Phā'raōh: what God is about to do he hath showed unto Phā'raōh. 29 Behold, there come seven years of great plenty throughout all the land of Ē'ġypt: 30 and there shall arise after them seven years of famine; and all the plenty shall be forgotten in the land of Ē'ġypt; and the famine shall consume the land; 31 and the plenty shall not be known in the land by reason of that famine which followeth; for it shall be very grievous. 32 And for that the dream was doubled unto Phā'raōh, it is because the thing is established by God, and God will shortly bring it to pass. 33 Now therefore let Phā'raōh look out a man discreet and wise, and set him over the land of Ē'ġypt. 34 Let ^a Phā'raōh do this, and let him appoint ^b overseers over the ^c land, and take up the fifth part of the land of ^a Ē'ġypt in the ^c seven plenteous ⁱ years. 35 And let them gather all the ^g food of these good years that come, and lay up ^h grain under the ⁱ hand of Phā'raōh for food in the ⁱ cities, and let them keep it. 36 And the food shall be for a store to the land against the seven years of ^k famine, which shall be in the land of Ē'ġypt; that the land perish not through the famine.

37 And the thing was good in the ⁱ eyes of Phā'raōh, and in the eyes of all his servants.

38 And Phā'raōh said unto his ^m servants, Can we find such a one as this, a man in whom the ⁿ spirit of God is? 39 And Phā'raōh said unto ^o Joseph, Forasmuch as God hath showed thee all this, there is none so discreet and ^p wise as thou: 40 thou shalt be over my ^q house, and according unto thy word shall all my people ¹ be ruled: only in the throne will I be greater than thou. 41 And Phā'raōh said unto Joseph, See, I have set thee over all the land of Ē'ġypt. 42 And Phā'raōh took off his ^r signet ring from his hand, and put it upon Joseph's hand, and arrayed him in ^s vestures of ² fine linen, and put a ^t gold chain about his ^v neck; 43 and he made him to ride in the second ^w chariot which he had: and they cried before him, ³ Bow the knee: and he set him over all the land of Ē'ġypt. 44 And Phā'raōh said unto Joseph, I am Phā'raōh, and without thee shall no ^x man lift up his ^y hand or his ^z foot in all the land of Ē'ġypt. 45 And Phā'raōh called Joseph's name Zāph-ē-nāth-pā-nē-āh; and he gave him to wife Ās'ē-nāth, the daughter of Pōt-ī-phē'rā ^a priest of ^b On. about every city, laid he up in the same. 49 And Joseph laid up grain as the ^asand of the ^bsea, very much, until he left off numbering; for it was without number. 50 And unto Joseph were born two sons before the year of famine came, whom Āsē-nāth, the daughter of Pōt-i-phē'rā priest of On, bare unto him. 51 And Joseph called the ^cd name of the ^efirst-born ^{1 q h 1}Mā-nās'sēh: For, said he, God hath made me forget all my toil, and all my father's house. 52 And the name of the second called he ^{i 2}Ē-phrā'im: For God hath made me fruitful in the land of my ^jaffliction. 53 And the seven years of plenty, that was in the land of Ē-ġypt, came to an end. 54 And the ^kseven ^lyears of ^mfamine began to come, according as ⁿJoseph had said: and there was famine in all ^olands; but in all the land of Ē-ġypt there was ^pbread. 55 And when all the land of Ē-ġypt was famished, the people cried to ^qPhā-raōh for bread: and Phā-raōh said unto all the Ē-ġypt'ān, Go unto Joseph; what he saith to you, do. 56 And the famine was over all the ^rface of the ^searth: and Joseph opened all the ^tstore-houses, and sold unto the Ē-ġypt'ān; and the famine was sore in the land of Ē-ġypt. 57 And all countries came into Ē-ġypt to Joseph to buy ^ugrain, because the famine was sore in all the earth.

42 Now ^vJacob saw that there was grain in Ē-ġypt, and Jacob said unto his ^wsons, Why do ye look one upon another? 2 And he said, Behold, I have heard that there is

And if I be bereaved of my children, I am bereaved. 15 And the men took that present, and they took double money in their ^d hand, and Bën-jä-mîn; and rose up, and went down to ^e Ē-ġypt, and stood before ^f Joseph.

16 And when Joseph saw Bën-jä-mîn with them, he said to the ^g steward of his ^h house, Bring the men into the house, and slay, and make ready; for the men shall ⁱ dine with me at noon. 17 And the man did as Joseph bade; and the man brought the men to Joseph's house. 18 And the men were ^j afraid, because they were brought to Joseph's house; and they said, Because of the money that was returned in our sacks at the first time are we brought in; that he may ² seek occasion against us, and fall upon us, and take us for ^k bondmen, and our ^l asses. 19 And they came near to the steward of Joseph's house, and they spake unto him at the door of the house, 20 and said, Oh, my lord, we came indeed down at the first time to ^m buy ⁿ food: 21 and it came to pass, when we came to the lodging-place, that we opened our sacks, and, behold, every man's money was in the ^o mouth of his sack, our money in full ^p weight: and we have brought it again in our hand. 22 And other money have we brought down in our hand to buy food: we know not who put our money in our sacks. 23 And he said, ^q Peace be to you, fear

And he brought Sîm-ē-on out unto them. 24 And the man brought the men into Joseph's house, and gave them ^s water, and they ^t washed their feet; and he gave their asses provender. 25 And they made ready the present against Joseph's coming at noon: for they heard that they should eat ^u bread there.

26 And when Joseph came home, they brought him the present which was in their hand into the house, and bowed down themselves to him to the ^v earth. 27 And he asked them of their welfare, and said, Is your father well, the old man of whom ye spake? Is he yet alive? 28 And they said, Thy servant our father is well, he is yet alive. And they bowed the head, and made obeisance. 29 And he ^w lifted up his eyes, and saw Bën-jä-mîn his brother, his ^x mother's son, and said, Is this your youngest brother, of whom ye spake unto me? And he said, God be gracious unto thee, my son. 30 And Joseph made haste; for his ^y heart yearned over his brother: and he sought where to weep; and he entered into his chamber, and ^z wept there. 31 And he washed his ^a face, and came out; and he refrained himself, and said, Set on bread. 32 And they set on for him by himself, and for them by themselves, and for the Ē-ġypt-^{ti}ans, that did eat with him, by themselves: because the Ē-ġypt-^{ti}ans might not eat bread with the Hebrews; for that is ^b an abomination unto the Ē-ġypt-^{ti}ans. 33 And they sat before him, the ^c first-born ac-

14 And Jū'dāh and his brethren came to Joseph's house; and he was yet there: and they fell before him on the ground. 15 And Joseph said unto them, What deed is this that ye have done? know ye not that such a man as I can indeed divine? 16 And Jū'dāh said, What shall we say unto my lord? what shall we speak? or how shall we clear ourselves? 16 And the report thereof was heard in Phā-raōh's house, saying, Joseph's brethren are come: and it pleased Phā-raōh well, and his ^qservants. 17 And Phā-raōh said unto Joseph, Say unto thy brethren, This do ye: lade your ^rs beasts, and go, get you unto the land of ^tCānān; 18 and take your father and your households, and come unto me: and I will give you the good of the land of Ēḡṣ̄ṣ̄pt, and ye shall eat the fat of the land. 19 Now

8 And these are the names of the children of İs'ra-ël, who came into ^dE'ğypt, Jacob and his sons: Reu'bēn, Jacob's first-born. 9 And the sons of ^hReu'bēn: Hā'nōeh, and Pāl'lū, and ^pHēz'rōn, and Ćar'mī. 10 And the sons of Sīm'ē-ōn: ¹Jēm'ū-ël, and Jā'mīn, and Ō'hād, and ²Jā'ehīn, and ³Zō'hār, and Shā'ul the son of a Cā'nāan-i-tish ^swoman. 11 And the sons of ⁱLē'vī: ⁴Ĝēr'shōn, Kō'hāth, and Mē-rā'rī. 12 And the sons of Jū'dāh: Ēr, and ^uŌ'nān, and ^vShē'lāh, and ^wPē'rēz, and ^xZē'rāh; but Ēr and Ō'nān ^ydied in the land of Cā'nāan. in the land of Rām'ē-sēs, as Phā'raōh had commanded. 12 And Joseph nourished his father, and his brethren, and all his father's household, with bread, ¹ according to their families.

13 And there was no bread in all the land; for the famine was very sore, so that the land of Ē'ġypt and the land of Ā'ā'nān fainted by reason of the famine. 14 And Joseph gathered up all the ^b money that was found in the land of Ē'ġypt, and in the land of Ā'ā'nān, for the ^c grain which they bought: and Joseph brought the money into Phā'raōh's ^d house. 15 And when the money was all spent in the land of Ē'ġypt, and in the land of Ā'ā'nān, all the Ē'ġypt' tianš came unto Joseph, and said, Give us bread: for why should we ^e die in thy presence? for our money faileth. 16 And Joseph said, Give your ^f cattle; and I will give you for your cattle, if money fail. 17 And they brought their cattle unto Joseph; and Joseph gave them bread in exchange for the ^g horses, and for the ^h flocks, and for the herds, and for the asses: and he ³ fed them with bread in exchange for all their cattle for that year. 18 And when that year was ended, they came unto him the second year, and said unto him, We will not hide from my lord, how that our money is all spent; and the herds of cattle are 20 So Joseph bought all the land of Ē'ġypt for Phā'raōh; for the Ē'ġypt'tianš sold every man his ^l field, because the famine was sore upon them: and the land became Phā'raōh's. 21 And as for the people, ^m ⁴ he removed them ⁵ to the ⁿ cities from one end of the border of ^o Ē'ġypt even to the other end thereof. 22 Only the ^p land of the ^q priests bought he not: for the priests had a portion from ^r Phā'raōh, and did eat their portion which Phā'raōh gave them; wherefore they sold not their land. 23 Then Joseph said unto the people, Behold, I have bought you this day and your land for Phā'raōh: lo, here is seed for you, and ye shall ^s sow the land. 24 And it shall come to pass at the ^t ingatherings, that ye shall give a fifth unto Phā'raōh, and four parts shall be your own, for seed of the field, and for your ^u food, and for them of your ^v households, and for food for your ^w little ones. 25 And they said, Thou hast saved our ^x lives: let us find favor in the sight of my lord, and we will be Phā'raōh's servants. 26 And Joseph made it a ^y statute concerning the land of Ē'ġypt unto this ^z day, that Phā'raōh should have the fifth; only the land of the priests alone became not Phā'raōh's.

Aâr'ôn, Go into the ^a wilderness to meet Mô'sēs. And he went, and met him in the ^b mountain of God, and ^c kissed him. 28 And Mô'sēs told Aâr'ôn all the words of Jê-hô'vâh wherewith he had sent him, and all the signs wherewith he had charged him. 29 And ^d Mô'sēs and ^e Aâr'ôn went and gathered together all the ^f elders of the children of ^g Îs'râ-ël: 30 and Aâr'ôn spake all the words which Jê-hô'vâh had spoken unto Mô'sēs, and did the ^h signs in the sight of the people. 31 And the people ⁱ believed: and when they heard that Jê-hô'vâh had visited the children of Îs'râ-ël, and that he had seen their ^k affliction, then they bowed their heads and ^l worshipped.

5 And afterward Mô'sēs and Aâr'ôn came, and said unto ^m Phâ'raôh, ⁿ Thus saith Jê-hô'vâh, the God of Îs'râ-ël, ^o Let my people go, that they may hold a ^p feast unto me in the wilderness. 2 And Phâ'raôh said, ^q Who is Jê-hô'vâh, that I should ^r hearken unto his voice to let Îs'râ-ël go? I know not Jê-hô'vâh, and moreover ^s I will not let Îs'râ-ël go. 3 And they said, ^t The God of the ^u Hebrews ^v hath met with us: let us go, we pray thee, three ^w days' journey into the wilderness, and ^x sacrifice unto Jê-hô'vâh our God, lest he fall upon us with ^{y z a} pestilence, or with the ^b sword. 4 And the king of Ê'g'ÿpt said unto them, Wherefore do ye, Mô'sēs and Aâr'ôn, loose the people from their ^c works? get you unto your ^{d e} burdens. 5 And Phâ'raôh said, Behold, ^f the people of the land are now many, and ye make them

10 And the taskmasters of the people went out, and their officers, and they spake to the people, saying, Thus saith Phâ'raôh, I will not give you straw. 11 Go yourselves, get you straw where ye can find it; for nought of your work shall be diminished. 12 So the people were scattered abroad throughout all the land of Ê'g'ÿpt to gather stubble for straw. 13 And the taskmasters were urgent, saying, Fulfil your works, ^k your daily tasks, as when there was straw. 14 And the officers of the children of Îs'râ-ël, whom Phâ'raôh's taskmasters had set over them, ^l were beaten, ¹ and demanded, Wherefore have ye not fulfilled your task both yesterday and to-day, in making brick as heretofore?

15 Then the officers of the children of Îs'râ-ël came and cried unto Phâ'raôh, saying, Wherefore dealest thou thus with thy ^m servants? 16 There is no straw given unto thy servants, and they say to us, Make brick: and, behold, thy servants are go, serve Jē-hō'vāh, as ye have said. 32 Take ^h both your ⁱ flocks and your ^j herds, as ye have said, and be gone; and ^k bless me also. 33 And the ^l Ē-ġypt'ūānš were urgent upon the people, to send them out of the land in haste; for they said, We are all ^m dead men. 34 And the people took ⁿ their dough ^o before it was leavened, their kneading-troughs being bound up in their ^p clothes upon their shoulders. 35 ^q And the children of Īs'rá-ēl did according to the word of Mō'sēs; and they asked of the Ē-ġypt'ūānš ^r jewels of ^s silver, and jewels of ^t gold, and raiment: 36 and Jē-hō'vāh gave the people favor in the sight of the Ē-ġypt'ūānš, so that they let them have what they asked. And they ^u despoiled the Ē-ġypt'ūānš.

37 And the children of Īs'rá-ēl journeyed from ^v Rām'ē-sēs to Sūe'ēōth, about six hundred thousand on foot that were men, besides children. 38 And a ^w mixed multitude went up also with them; and flocks, and herds, even very much cattle. 39 And they ^x baked unleavened cakes of the dough which they brought forth out of Ē-ġypt; for it was not leavened, because they were thrust out of Ē-ġypt, and could not tarry, neither had they prepared for themselves any victuals. 40 Now the time that the children of Īs'rá-ēl dwelt in Ē-ġypt was four hundred and thirty years. 41 And it came to pass at the end of four hundred and thirty years, even the self-same day it came to pass, that all the hosts of Jē-hō'vāh went out from the land of Ē-ġypt. 42 ^y It is ^z a night to be much for he had straitly sworn the children of Īś-rā-ēl, saying, God will surely visit you; and ye shall carry up my bones away hence with you. 20 And they took their journey from ^aSūc-eōth, and ^bencamped in Ē-thām, in the edge of the wilderness. 21 And Jē-hō-vāh went before them by day in a ^cpillar of cloud, to lead them the way, and by ^dnight in a pillar of ^efire, to give them ^flight; that they might go by day and by night: 22 ¹the pillar of cloud by day, and the ^gpillar of fire by night, departed not from before the people.

14 And Jē-hō-vāh spake unto Mō-šēs, saying, 2 Speak unto the children of Īś-rā-ēl, that they turn back and encamp before ^hPi-hā-hi-rōth, between Mīg-dōl and the sea, before Bā-āl-zē-phōn: over against it shall ye encamp by the sea. 3 And Phā-raōh will say of the children of Īś-rā-ēl, They are entangled in the ⁱland, the wilderness hath shut them in. 4 And I will ^jharden Phā-raōh's heart, and ^khe shall follow after them; and I will get me honor upon Phā-raōh, and upon all his host; and the Ē-ġyp-tiānš shall know that I am Jē-hō-vāh. And they did so. 5 And it was told the ^lm king of ⁿĒ-ġypt that the ^opeople were fled: and the ^pheart of Phā-raōh and of his ^qservants was changed towards the people, and they said, What is this we have done, that we have let Īś-rā-ēl go from ^rserving us? 6 And he made ready his ^schariot, and took his people with him: 7 and he took six hundred chosen char-iots, and all the chariots of Ē-ġypt, and ^tcaptains over all of them. 8 And Jē-hō-vāh ^uhardened the heart of Phā-raōh king of Ē-ġypt, and he pursued after the children of Īś-rā-ēl: for the children of Īś-rā-ēl went out with a high hand. 9 And the Ē-ġyp-tiānš pursued after them, all the ^vhorses and chariots of Phā-raōh, and his ^whorsemen, and his army, and overtook them encamping by the ^xsea, ^ybeside Pi-hā-hi-rōth, before Bā-āl-zē-phōn.

10 And when Phā-raōh drew nigh, the children of Īś-rā-ēl ^zlifted up their eyes, and, behold, the Ē-ġyp-tiānš were marching after them; and they were ^{aa}sore afraid: and the children of Īś-rā-ēl cried out unto Jē-hō-vāh. 11 And they said unto Mō-šēs, ^{ab}Because there were no ^{ac}graves in Ē-ġypt, hast thou taken us away to die in the ^{ad}wilderness? wherefore hast thou dealt thus with us, to bring us forth out of Ē-ġypt? 12 Is not this the word that we spake unto thee in Ē-ġypt, saying, Let us alone, that we may serve the Ē-ġyp-tiānš? For it were better for us to serve the Ē-ġyp-tiānš, than that we should die in the wilderness. 13 And Mō-šēs said unto the people, Fear ye not, stand still, and see the ^{ae}salvation of Jē-hō-vāh, which he will work for you to-day: ^{af}for the Ē-ġyp-tiānš whom ye have seen to-day, ye shall see them again no more for ever. 14 Jē-hō-vāh will fight for you, and ye shall hold your ^{ag}peace.

15 And Jē-hō-vāh said unto Mō-šēs, Wherefore criest thou unto me? speak unto the children of Īś-rā-ēl, that they go forward. 16 And lift thou up thy ^{ah}rod, and ^{ai}stretch out thy hand over the sea, and divide it: and

4 Then said Jē-hō'vāh unto Mō'sēs, Behold, ^v I will rain bread from heaven for you; and the people shall go out and gather a day's portion every day, that I may prove them, whether they will walk in my ^w law, or not. 5 And it shall come to pass ^x on the sixth ^y day, that they shall prepare that which they bring in, and it shall be twice as much as they gather daily. 6 And ^z Mō'sēs and ^a Aār'ōn said unto all the ^b children of Īs'rā-ēl,

The Lord's Day (Rev. 1:10), the Christian's Holy Day.—It was the Day our Lord rose from the Dead—Mt. 28:1; Mk. 16:9; Lu. 24:1-3; John 20:1-2. He confirms this as the Holy Day by appearing upon it—Lu. 24:33-36; John 20:19, 26; 21:12-17. The Disciples kept the Ordinances on this Day—Acts 20:7; I Cor. 11:18-26; 16:2. did as Mō'sēs had said to him, and fought with Ām'ā-lēk: and Mō'sēs, Aār'ōn, and ^aHūr went up to the top of the hill. 11 And it came to pass, when Mō'sēs held up his hand, that Īś'rā-ēl prevailed; and when he let down his hand, Ām'ā-lēk prevailed. 12 But Mō'sēs' hands were heavy; and they took a stone, and put it under him, and he sat thereon; and Aār'ōn and Hūr stayed up his hands, the one on the one side, and the other on the other side; and his hands were steady until the going down of the sun. 13 And Jōsh'ū-ā ¹discomfited Ām'ā-lēk and his people with the edge of the ^bsword. 14 And Jē-hō'vāh said unto Mō'sēs, ^cWrite this for a ^dmemorial in ^ea book, and rehearse it in the ^fears of Jōsh'ū-ā: ³that ^gI will utterly blot out the remembrance of Ām'ā-lēk from under heaven. 15 And ^hMō'sēs built an ⁱaltar, and called the name of it ^jJē-hō'vāh-nīs'sī; 16 and he said, ^kJē-hō'vāh hath ^lsworn: Jē-hō'vāh will have ^mwar with Ām'ā-lēk from generation to generation.

18 Now ⁿJē'thrō, the ^opriest of ^pMid'ān, Mō'sēs' ^qfather-in-law, heard of all that God had done for Mō'sēs, and for ^rĪś'rā-ēl his people, how that Jē-hō'vāh had brought Īś'rā-ēl out of ^sĒ'ġypt. 2 And Jē'thrō, Mō'sēs' father-in-law, took ^tZīp-pō'rāh, Mō'sēs' ^uwife, after he had sent her away, 3 and her two ^vsons; of whom the name of the one was ^wĠēr'shōm;

7 ^a And Mō'šēš came and called for the ^b elders of the people, and set before them all these words which Jē-hō'vāh ^c commanded him. 8 And all the people answered together, and said, All that Jē-hō'vāh hath spoken ^d we will do. And Mō'šēš reported the words of the people unto Jē-hō'vāh. 9 And Jē-hō'vāh said unto Mō'šēš, Lo, I come unto thee in ^e a thick cloud, that the people may hear when I speak with thee, and may also ^f believe thee for ever. And Mō'šēš told the words of the people unto Jē-hō'vāh. 10 And Jē-hō'vāh said unto Mō'šēš, Go unto the people, and ^g sanctify them to-day and to-morrow, and let them ^h wash their ⁱ garments, 11 and be ready against the ^j third day; for the ^k third day Jē-hō'vāh ^l will come down in the sight of all the people upon ^m mount ⁿ Sī'nāi. 12 And thou shalt set bounds unto the people round about, saying, Take heed to yourselves, that ye go not up into the mount, or touch the border of it: whosoever toucheth the mount shall be surely ^o put to death: 13 no ^p hand shall touch ¹ him, but ^q he shall surely be ^r stoned, or ^s shot through; whether it be ^t beast or ^u man, he shall not ^v live: when the ^w ² trumpet soundeth long, they shall come up to the mount. 14 And Mō'šēš went down from the mount unto the people, and sanctified the people; and they ^x washed their garments. 15 And he said unto the people, Be

Turn from thy fierce wrath, and ^f repent of this evil against thy people. 13 Remember ^g Abraham, ^h Īšāae, and ⁱ Īš-rā-ēl, thy ^j servants, to whom thou ^k ^lswarest by thine own self, and saidst unto them, ^m I will multiply your ⁿ seed as the ^o stars of ^p heaven, and all this ^q ^r land that I have spoken of will I give unto your seed, and they shall ^s inherit it for ever. 14 And Jē-hō-vāh repented of the evil which he said he would do unto his people.

15 And Mō-šēš turned, and went down from the mount, with the ^t two tables of the testimony in his hand; tables that were written on both their sides; on the one side and on the other were they written. 16 And the tables were the work of God, and the writing was the writing of God, graven upon the tables. 17 And when ^u Jōsh-ū-ā heard the noise of the people as they shouted, he said unto Mō-šēš, There is a noise of ^v war in the camp. 18 And he said, It is not the voice of them that shout for mastery, neither is it the ^w voice of them that cry for being overcome; but the noise of them that ^x sing do I hear. 19 And it came to pass, as soon as he came nigh unto the ^y camp, that he saw the calf and the ^z dancing; and Mō-

21 And Mō-šēš said unto Aār-ōn, What did this people unto thee, that thou hast brought a great ^d sin upon them? 22 And ^e Aār-ōn said, Let not the anger of my lord wax hot: thou knowest the ^f people, ^g that they are set on evil. 23 For ^h they said unto me, ⁱ Make us ^j gods, which shall go before us; for as for ^k this ^l Mō-šēš, the man that ^m brought us up out of the land of ⁿ Ē-ġypt, we know not what is become of him. 24 And I said unto them, Whosoever hath any ^o gold, let them break it off: so they gave it me; and ^p I cast it into the fire, and there came out this calf.

25 And when Mō-šēš saw that the people were broken loose (for Aār-ōn had let them loose for a ¹ derision among their ^q enemies), 26 then Mō-šēš stood in the ^r gate of the camp, and said, Whoso is on ^s Jē-hō-vāh's side, let him come unto me. And all the ^t sons of Lē-vī gathered themselves together unto him. 27 And he said unto them, Thus saith Jē-hō-vāh, the God of Īš-rā-ēl, Put ye every man his sword upon his thigh, and go to and fro from gate to gate throughout the camp, and ^u slay every ^v man his ^w brother, and every man his companion, and every man his ^x neighbor. 28 And the sons of Lē-vī did according to the word of Mō-šēš: and there fell of the people that day about three thousand men. 29 And Mō-šēš said,

30 And it came to pass on the morrow, that Mō'-šêš said unto the people, Ye have sinned a great ^c sin: and now I will go up unto Jê-hô'-vâh; peradventure I shall make ^d atonement for your sin. 31 And Mō'-šêš returned unto Jê-hô'-vâh, and said, Oh, this people have sinned a great sin, and have ^e made them gods of gold. 32 ^f Yet now, if thou wilt forgive their sin—; and if not, blot me, I pray thee, out of thy ^g book which thou hast written. 33 And Jê-hô'-vâh said unto Mō'-šêš, Whosoever hath sinned against me, him ^h will I blot out of my book. 34 And now go, lead the people unto ⁱ the place of which I have spoken unto thee: behold, mine ^j angel shall go before thee; nevertheless in the ^k day when I visit, ^l I will visit their sin upon them. 35 And Jê-hô'-vâh smote the people, because they made the calf, which Aâr'-ôn made.

* MEASURE.—(Modern estimates vary so much we hardly feel justified in making one more attempt for accuracy, so we offer a table already prepared by good English scholars.)

MEASURES
LONG MEASURE
	ft.	in.
A digit, or finger (Jer. 52:21)	—	0.912
4 digits = 1 palm (Ex. 25:25)	—	3.648
3 palms = 1 span (Ex. 28:16)	—	10.944
2 spans = 1 cubit (Gen. 6:15)	1	9.888
4 cubits = 1 fathom (Acts 27:28)	7	3.552
1.5 fathoms = 1 reed (Ez. 40:3, 5)	10	11.328
13.3 reeds = 1 line (Ez. 40:3)	145	11.04
LAND MEASURE

10 furlongs = 1 mile (Mt. 5:41)	1	399	1.0
24 miles = 1 day's journey	33	76	4.0
LIQUID MEASURE

3 seahs = 1 ephah (Ez. 45:11)	3	0	3
5 ephahs = 1 leteah (Hos. 3:2)	16	0	0
2 letechs = 1 kor, or homer (Num. 11:32; Hos. 3:2)	32	0	0

N.B.—The above table will explain many texts in the Bible, especially those which are placed within brackets. Take, for instance, Is. 5:10: "Yea, ten acres of vineyard shall yield one bath, and the seed of an homer shall yield an ephah." This curse upon the covetous man was, that 10 acres of vines should produce only 7 gallons of wine, i.e. one acre should yield less than 3 quarts; and that 32 pecks of seed should only bring a crop of 3 pecks, or, in other words, that the harvest should produce a quantity equal to one-tenth only of the seed sown.

2^h And he made the êph'ôd of gold, blue, and purple, and scarlet, and fine twined ⁱ linen. 3 And they did beat the ^j gold into thin plates, and cut it into wires, to work it in the blue, and in the purple, and in the scarlet, and in the fine linen, the work of the skilful workman. 4 They made shoulder-pieces for it, joined together; at the two ends was it joined together. 5 And the skilfully woven band, that was upon it, wherewith to gird it on, was of the same piece and like the work thereof; of gold, of blue, and purple, and scarlet, and fine twined linen; as Jê-hô'vâh commanded Mō'sēs.

6 And they wrought the ^k onyx stones, inclosed in settings of gold, graven with the engravings of a ^l signet, according to the ^{m n} names of the children of ^o Īs'râ-êl. 7 And he put them on the

8^q And he made the breastplate, the work of the skilful workman, like the work of the êph'ôd; of gold, of blue, and purple, and scarlet, and fine twined linen. 9 It was four-square; they made the breastplate double: a span was the length thereof, and a span the breadth thereof, being double. 10 And they set in it four rows of ^r stones. A row of sardius, topaz, and carbuncle was the first row; 11 and the second row, an emerald, a sapphire, and a diamond; 12 and the third row, a jacinth, an agate, and an amethyst; 13 and the fourth row, a beryl, an onyx, and a jasper: they were inclosed in inclosings of gold in their settings. 14 And the stones were according to the names of the children of Īs'râ-êl twelve, according to their names; like the engravings of a signet, every one according to his name, for the ^s twelve tribes. 15 And they made upon the breastplate chains like cords, of wreathen work of pure gold. 16 And they made two settings of gold, and two gold rings, and put the two rings on the two ends of the breastplate. 17 And they put the two ^t wreathen chains of gold in the two rings at the ends of the breastplate. 18 And the other two ends of the two wreathen chains they put on the two settings, and put them on the shoulder-pieces of the êph'ôd, in the forefront thereof. 19 And they made two rings of gold, and put them upon the two ends of the breastplate, upon the edge thereof, which was toward the side of the êph'ôd inward.

20 And they made two rings of gold, and put them on the two shoulder-pieces of the ĕph'öd underneath, in the forepart thereof, close by the coupling thereof, above the skilfully woven band of the ĕph'öd. 21 And they did bind the breastplate by the rings thereof unto the rings of the ĕph'öd with a lace of ^a blue, that it might be upon the skilfully woven band of the ĕph'öd, and that the breastplate might not be loosed from the ĕph'öd; as Jê-hô'vâh commanded ^b Mō'sēs.

22 ^c And he made the robe of the ĕph'öd of woven work, all of blue; 23 and the hole of the robe in the midst thereof, as the hole of a ^d coat of mail, with a binding round about the hole of it, that it should not be rent. 24 And they made upon the ^e skirts of the robe pomegranates of blue, and purple, and scarlet, and twined ^f linen, 25 And they made bells of pure gold, and put the bells between the pomegranates upon the skirts of the robe round about, between the pomegranates; 26 a bell and a pomegranate, upon the skirts of the robe round about, to minister in; as Jê-hô'vâh commanded Mō'sēs.

27 ^g And they made the ^h coats of fine linen of woven work for ⁱ Aâr'ōn, and for his ^j sons, 28 and the ^k mitre of fine linen, and the goodly head-tires of fine linen, and the linen breeches of fine twined linen, 29 and the gir-

30 ^l And they made the plate of the holy ^m crown of pure gold, and wrote upon it a writing, like the engravings of a signet, ⁿ HOLY TO JÊ-HÔ'VÂH. 31 And they tied unto it a lace of blue, to fasten it upon the mitre above; as Jê-hô'vâh commanded Mō'sēs.

32 Thus was finished all the work of the tabernacle of the tent of meeting; and the children of Īš-râ-ĕl ^o did according to all that Jê-hô'vâh commanded Mō'sēs; so did they. 33 And they brought the ^p tabernacle unto Mō'sēs, the ^q Tent, and all its furniture, its clasps, its boards, its bars, and its ^r pillars, and its sockets; 34 and the covering of ^s rams' ^t skins dyed red, and the covering of ^u sealskins, and the ^v veil of the screen; 35 the ^w ark of the testimony, and the staves thereof, and the ^x mercy-seat; 36 the ^y table, all the ^z vessels thereof, and the ^a showbread; 37 the pure ^b candlestick, the ^c lamps thereof, even the lamps to be set in order, and all the vessels thereof, and the ^d oil for the ^e light; 38 and the golden ^f altar, and the ^g anointing oil, and the sweet ^h incense, and the screen for the ⁱ door of the Tent; 39 the brazen altar, and its grating of brass, its staves, and all its vessels, the laver and its base; 40 the hangings of the court, its pillars, and its sockets, and the screen for the ^j gate of the court, the cords thereof, and the pins thereof, and all the instruments of the service of the tabernacle, for the tent of meeting; 41 the finely wrought ^k garments for

* ATONEMENT: Kaphar, to cover, to cancel; also to cleanse, to forgive.

The Value of Scriptural Atonement depends on One's Conception of Sin. Sin is yielding to Lust.—Gen. 3:6; I Pet. 4:3-4; I John 2:16. Sin is Lawlessness—I John 3:4. The Result is Separation from God—Deut. 31:17; Josh. 7:12; Ps. 78:59; Is. 59:2; 64:7; Ez. 23:18; Hos. 9:12; Mic. 3:4; Mt. 7:23; Lu. 13:27; Heb. 12:14.

The Necessity of Atonement grows out of Two Things: (1) Holiness of Jehovah—Ex. 3:5; 15:11; Lev. 19:2; Is. 6:3. (2) Disobedience of Man—Gen. 3:17-19; Ex. 34:7; Acts 17:30-31; Rom. 3:9, 19; 5:12. Holding these Two Features in Combination, we get a Just Conception of Sin—Gen. 3:7-8; Ps. 46:10; Is. 55:8-9; Lev. 10:10.

Sacrifice the Appointed Means of Approach to God.—Ex. 29:31-37; Lev. 4:1-35; 6:24-30; 23:26-31; Num. 29:1-11; Deut. 12:11-14.

Through whom Atonement is made.—Must offer through the Priest—Lev. 4:13-18, 22-26; 5:6, 8-10, 12-13; 6:6-7, 12-13; Mt. 8:4; Mk. 1:44; Lu. 5:14; Heb. 8:3; 9:6-7; 10:11. Great Prophets sometimes offered Sacrifices—I Sam. 7:9, 10; I Ki. 18:30-39.

The Principle of the Atonement.—The Life is in the Blood—Lev. 17:11; Deut. 12:23. Life of no Value in Atonement unless offered up in Death—See Lev. Chaps. 4, 5, 6, etc. Not possible for Blood of Animals to purge away Sin—Heb. 10:1-4. These Sacrifices foreshadow the Death of Jesus—Heb. 9:11-14, 23-28; 10:11-14. "Except a Grain of Wheat fall into the Earth and die, it abideth alone," etc.—John 12:24. "If I be lifted up from the Earth, will draw," etc.—John 12:32-33. The Atonement of Jesus effects our Reconciliation with God—John 1:29; Rom. 5:8-11; II Cor. 5:14-19; Rom. 3:21-26. His Obedience unto Death, even the Death of the Cross, paves the Way for the Obedience of the Race—Phil. 2:8; Rom. 5:19. We are instructed to die with Him in order to rise into the New Life—Rom. 6:1-11; 8:10-13; II Cor. 5:14-17.

The Attitude of the Old Testament Prophets.—They favored Sacrifice—Is. 56:6-7; 60:7; Jer. 17:26; 33:18. But opposed its Abuse—Is. 66:3-4; Hos. 6:6; Mic. 6:6-8; Mal. 1:6-8. The Servant of Jehovah takes upon Himself an Expiatory Character—Is. 53:5, 6, 8, 10-12. (See also Zech. 12:10; 13:1; Dan. 9:24.) The Moral Character of the Suffering Servant set forth—Is. 52:13; 53:4, 7, 9. His Life and Death blend in the Perfect Sacrifice—Is. 11:1-5; 61:1-3; 63:1-3; Mic. 7:18-20; Zeph. 3:14-17.

The Day of Atonement.—On the Tenth Day of the Seventh Month (Tisri)—Ex. 30:10. Mode of Observance—Lev. 16:3-10. Details—Lev. 16:11-34. Special Victims—Num. 29:7-11. The Action of the People—Lev. 23:26-32. To be kept as a Sabbath—Lev. 16:29-31; Num. Chap. 29. The Day on which Jubilee is to be proclaimed—Lev. 25:9. See also "Priests"—Ex. 2:1. a basket of consecration, ¹ as I commanded, saying, Aâr'ôn and his sons shall eat it. 32 And that which remaineth of the flesh and of the bread shall ye burn with ^b fire. 33 And ye shall not go out from the door of the tent of meeting ^c seven days, until the days of your consecration be fulfilled: for he shall consecrate you seven days. 34 As hath been done this ^d day, so Jê-hô'vâh hath commanded to do, to make ^e atonement for you. 35 And at the door of the tent of meeting shall ye abide day and ^f night seven days, and keep the charge of Jê-hô'vâh, that ye ^g die not: for so I am commanded. 36 And Aâr'ôn and his sons did all the things which Jê-hô'vâh commanded by Mō'sēs.

9 And it came to pass on the eighth day, that Mō'sēs called Aâr'ôn and his sons, and the ^h elders of Īs'râ-êl; 2 and he said unto Aâr'ôn, Take thee a calf of the ⁱ herd for a sin-offering, and a ram for a burnt-offering, without blemish, and offer them before Jê-hô'vâh. 3 And unto the ^j children of Īs'râ-êl thou shalt speak, saying, Take ye a ^k he-goat for a sin-offering; and a calf and a ^l lamb, both a year old, without ^m blemish, for a burnt-offering; 4 and an ox and a ram for peace-offerings, to sacrifice before Jê-hô'vâh; and a meal-offering mingled with ⁿ oil: for to-day Jê-hô'vâh appeareth unto you. 5 And they brought that which Mō'sēs commanded before the tent of meeting: and all the congregation drew near and stood before Jê-hô'vâh.

6 And Mō'sēs said, This is the thing which Jê-hô'vâh commanded that ye should do: and the ^o ^p glory of Jê-hô'vâh shall appear unto you. 7 And Mō'sēs said unto Aâr'ôn, Draw near unto the altar, and offer thy sin-offering, and thy burnt-offering, and make atonement for thyself, and for the people; and offer the oblation of the people, and make atonement for them; as Jê-hô'vâh commanded.

8 So Aâr'ôn drew near unto the altar, and slew the calf of the sin-offering, which was for himself. 9 And the sons of Aâr'ôn presented the blood unto him; and he dipped his ^q finger in the blood, and put it upon the horns of the altar, and poured out the blood at the base of the altar: 10 but the ^r fat, and the ^s kidneys, and the ^t caul from the ^u liver of the sin-offering, he burnt upon the altar; as Jê-hô'vâh commanded Mō'sēs. 11 And the ^v flesh and the ^w skin he burnt with fire without the ^x camp.

12 And he slew the ^y ^z burnt-offering; and ^a Aâr'ôn's ^b ^c sons delivered unto him the ^d blood, and he ^e sprinkled it upon the ^f altar round about. 13 And they delivered the burnt-offering unto him, piece by piece, and the ^g head: and he burnt them upon the altar. 14 And he washed the inwards and the ^h legs, and burnt them upon the burnt-offering on the altar.

not turned white, then the priest shall shut up him that hath the plague seven days: 5 and the priest shall look on him the seventh day: and, behold, if in his ^veyes the plague be at a stay, and the plague be not spread in the skin, then the priest shall shut him up ^wseven days more: 6 and the priest shall look on him again the seventh day; and, behold, if the plague be dim, and the plague be not spread in the skin, then the priest shall pronounce him clean: it is a scab: and he shall ^xwash his clothes, and be clean. 7 But if the scab spread abroad in the skin, after that he hath showed himself to the priest for his cleansing, he shall show himself to the priest again: 8 and the priest shall look; and, behold, if the scab be spread in the skin, then the priest shall pronounce him unclean: it is leprosy.

9 When the plague of leprosy is in a man, then he shall be brought unto the priest; 10 and the priest shall look; and, behold, if there be a white rising in the skin, and it have turned the hair white, and there be quick raw flesh in the rising, 11 it is an old leprosy in the skin of his flesh, and the priest shall pronounce him unclean: he shall not shut him up; for he is unclean. 12 And if the leprosy break out abroad in the skin, and the leprosy cover all the skin of him that hath the plague from his ^yhead even to his ^zfeet, as far as appeareth to the priest; 13 then the priest shall look; and, behold, if the leprosy have covered all his flesh, he shall pronounce him clean that hath the plague: it is all turned white: he is clean. 14 But whensoever raw flesh appeareth in him, he

14 But if ye will not hearken unto me, and will not ⁱ do all these commandments; 15 and if ye shall reject my statutes, and if your soul abhor mine ^q ordinances, so that ye will not do all my commandments, but ^h break my covenant; 16 I also will do this unto you: I will appoint terror over you, even ⁱ consumption and fever, that shall consume the ^j eyes, and make the soul to pine away; and ye shall sow your seed in vain, for your enemies shall eat it. 17 And I will set my ^k face against you, and ye shall be smitten before your enemies: they that ^l hate you shall rule over you; and ye shall flee when none pursueth you. 18 And if ye will not yet for these things hearken unto me, then I will ^m chastise you ^o seven times more for your ^p sins. 19 And I will break the ^q pride of your power: and I will make your ^r heaven as ^s iron, and your ^t earth as ^u brass; 20 and ^v your strength shall be spent in vain; for your land shall not yield its increase, neither shall the trees of the land yield their fruit.

21 And if ye walk contrary unto me, and will not ^w hearken unto me, I will bring seven times more ^x plagues upon you according to your ^y sins. 22 And I will send the beast of the field among you, which shall rob you of your ^z children, and destroy your ^a cattle, and make you few in number; and your ^b ways shall become desolate.

a Abraham will I remember; and I will remember the land. 43 The land also shall be left by them, and shall enjoy its ^b sabbaths, while it lieth desolate without them: and they shall accept of the punishment of their iniquity; because, even because they rejected mine ^c ordinances, and their ^d soul abhorred my ^e statutes. 44 And yet for all that, when they are in the land of their enemies, I will not reject them, neither will I abhor them, ^f to destroy them utterly, and ^g to break my covenant with them; for I am Jê-hô^hvâh their God; 45 but I will for their sakes remember the covenant of their ancestors, whom I ^h brought forth out of the land of ⁱ Ê^gÿpt in the sight of the ^j nations, that I might be their God: I am Jê-hô^hvâh.

3 Now these are the generations of ^aAâr'ôn and ^bMō'sēs in the ^cday that ^dJê-hô'vâh spake with Mō'sēs in ^emount Sî'nâi. 2 And these are the names of the sons of Aâr'ôn: Nâ'dâb the first-born, and Ā-bî'hû, ^fĒ-lê-â'zâr, and ^gĪth'â-mâr. 3 These are the names of the sons of Aâr'ôn, the ^hpriests that were ⁱanointed, whom he consecrated to ^jminister in the priest's office. 4 ^kAnd * Nâ'dâb and † Ā-bî'hû ^ldied before Jê-hô'vâh, when they offered strange ⁿfire before Jê-hô'vâh, in the ^owilderness of Sî'nâi, and they had no ^pchildren; and Ē-lê-â'zâr and Īth'â-mâr ministered in the priest's office in the presence of Aâr'ôn their father.

5 And Jê-hô'vâh spake unto Mō'sēs, saying, 6 Bring the ^qtribe of ^rs Lē'vî near, and set them before Aâr'ôn the priest, that they may minister unto him. 7 And they shall keep his charge, and the charge of the whole congregation before the ^ttent of meeting, to do the service of the tabernacle. 8 And they shall keep all the furniture of the tent of meeting, and the charge of the children of Īs'râ-ël, to do the service of the tabernacle. 9 And thou shalt give the Lē'vîtes unto Aâr'ôn and to his sons: they are ¹wholly given unto him ²on the behalf of the children of ^vĪs'râ-ël. 10 And thou shalt ³appoint Aâr'ôn and his sons, and they shall keep their priesthood: and ^wthe stranger that cometh nigh shall be put to death.

31 And there went forth a ^c wind from Jê-hôz-vâh, and brought ^d quails from the sea, and let them fall ² by the camp, about a ^e day's journey on this side, and a day's journey on the other side, round about the camp, and about two ^f cubits above the ^g face of the ^h earth. 32 And the people rose up all that day, and all the ⁱ night, and all the next day, and gathered the quails: he that gathered least gathered ten ^j hōz-mērs: and they spread them all abroad for themselves round about the camp. 33 ^k While the flesh was yet between their teeth, ere it was chewed, the anger of Jê-hô'vâh was kindled against the people, and Jê-hô'vâh ^a smote the people with a very great ^b plague. 34 And the name of that place was called ^c Kîb'zôrth-hât-tâ'â-vâh, because there they ^d buried the people that lusted. 35 From ^e Kîb'zôrth-hât-tâ'â-vâh the people ^f journeyed unto ^g Hâ-zê'rôth; and they abode at Hâ-zê'rôth.

12 And Mō-šēs sent to call Dā-thān and Ā-bī-rām, the sons of Ē-lī-āb; and they said, We will not come up: 13 is it a small thing that thou hast brought us up out of a ^f land flowing with ^g milk and ^h honey, ⁱ to kill us in the ^j wilderness, but thou must needs make thyself also a prince over us? 14 Moreover thou hast not brought us ^k into a ^l land flowing with milk and honey, nor given us ⁿ inheritance of ^o fields and ^p vineyards: wilt thou ¹ put out the ^q eyes of these ^r men? ^s we will not come up.

15 And Mō-šēs was very wroth, and said unto Jê-hō-vāh, ^t Respect not thou their ^u offering: ^v I have not taken one ^w ass from them, neither have I hurt one of them. 16 And Mō-šēs said unto ^x Kō-rāh, Be thou and all thy company before Jê-hō-vāh, thou, and they, and Aār-ōn, to-morrow: 17 and take ye every ^y man his ^z censer, and put ^a incense upon them, and bring ye before ^c Jê-hō-vāh every man his censer, two hun-

20 And Jê-hō-vāh spake unto Mō-šēs and unto Aār-ōn, saying, 21 ^k Separate yourselves from among this congregation, ^l ^m that I may consume them in a moment. 22 And they fell upon their ⁿ faces, and said, ^o O God, the God of the ^p spirits of all ^q flesh, ^r shall one man ^s sin, and wilt thou be ^t wroth with all the congregation? 23 And Jê-hō-vāh spake unto Mō-šēs, saying, 24 Speak unto the congregation, saying, Get you up from about the tabernacle of Kō-rāh, Dā-thān, and Ā-bī-rām.

25 And Mō-šēs rose up and went unto ^u Dā-thān and Ā-bī-rām; and the ^v elders of Īś-rā-ēl followed him. 26 And he spake unto the congregation, saying, Depart, I pray you, from the ^w tents of these ^x wicked men, and touch nothing of theirs, ^y lest ye be consumed in all their sins. 27 So they gat them up from the tabernacle of Kō-rāh, Dā-thān, and Ā-bī-rām, on every side: and Dā-thān and Ā-bī-rām came out, and stood at the door of their tents, and their ^z wives, and their ^a sons, and their ^b little ones. 28 And Mō-šēs said, Hereby ye shall know that Jê-hō-vāh hath sent me to do all these works; for I have not done them of mine own ^c mind. 29 If thee, and to thy sons and to thy thereof. 12 All the ² best of the oil, and all the ^t best of the ^u vintage, and of the ^v grain, the ^x first-fruits of them which they give unto Jē-hō'vāh, to thee have I given them. 13 The first-

Jē-hō'vāh, shall be thine; every one that is ^a clean in thy ^b house shall ^c eat thereof. 14 ^d Every-be thine. 15 ^e Everything that openeth the womb, of all ^f flesh which they offer unto Jē-hō'vāh, both of ^g man and ^h ⁱ beast shall

21 And unto the children of Lē'vî, behold, I have given all the ⁿ tithe in Îs'rá-ël for an inheritance, in return for their service which they serve, even the service of the tent of meeting. 22 And henceforth ^o the children of Îs'rá-ël shall not come nigh the ^p tent of meeting, lest they ^q bear sin, and ^r die. 23 But the Lē'vîtes shall do the service of the tent of meeting, and they shall ^s bear their iniquity: it shall be a ^t statute for ever throughout your generations; and among the children of Îs'rá-ël they shall have no inheritance. 24 For the tithe of the children of Îs'rá-ël, which they offer as a heave-offering unto Jê-hô'vâh, I have

20 But the man that shall be unclean, and shall not purify himself, that soul shall be cut off from the midst of the assembly, because he hath defiled the sanctuary of Jê-hô'-vâh: the water for impurity hath not been sprinkled upon him; he is unclean. 21 And it shall be a perpetual ^b statute unto them: and he that sprinkleth the water for impurity shall wash his clothes; and he that toucheth the water for impurity shall be unclean until even. 22 And whatsoever the unclean person toucheth shall be unclean; and the soul that toucheth it shall be unclean until even.

20 And the children of Îs'-râ-ël, even the whole congregation, came into the ^c wilderness of Zîn in the first ^a month: and the people abode in ^e Kâ-dêsh; and ^f Mir'-î-âm ^g died there, and was ^h buried there.

10 And Mô'-sêš and Aâr'-ôn gathered the assembly together before the rock, and he said unto them, Hear now, ye rebels; shall we bring you forth water out of this rock? 11 And Mô'-sêš lifted up his hand, and smote the rock with his rod twice; and ^d water came forth abundantly, and the congregation drank, and their ^e cattle. 12 And Jê-hô'-vâh said unto Mô'-sêš and Aâr'-ôn, ^f Because ye believed not in me, to ^g sanctify me in the ^h eyes of the children of ⁱ Îs'-râ-ël, therefore

23^a And Sî'hôn would not suffer
İş-râ-ël to pass through his border: but Sî'hôn gathered all his people together, and went out against İş-râ-ël into the wilderness, and came to ^b Jâ'hâz; and he fought against İş-râ-ël. 24
And İş-râ-ël smote him with the edge of the ^c sword, and possessed his land from the Ä'r-nôn unto the ^a Jâb'bök, even unto the ^e children of Ä'm'môn; for the border of the children of Ä'm'môn was strong. 25 And İş-râ-ël took all these cities: and İş-râ-ël dwelt in all the cities of the Ä'm'ôr-ites; in * Hêsh'bôn, and in all the ^f towns thereof.

26 For Hêsh'bôn was the ^g city of ^h Sî'hôn the ⁱ king of the ^j Ä'm'ôr-ites, who had fought against the former king of ^k Mō'āb, and taken all his ^l land out of his ^m hand, even unto the ⁿ Ä'r-nôn. 27 Wherefore they that speak in ^o proverbs say,

Come ye to Hêsh'bôn;
Let the city of Sî'hôn be built and established:

28^p For a ^q fire is gone out of Hêsh'bôn,
A flame from the city of Sî'
hôn:
It hath devoured ^r Ä'r of Mō'āb,
The lords of ^s the high places of the Ä'r-nôn.

29^t Woe to thee, Mō'āb!
Thou art undone, O people of ^u Chê'mōsh:

31 Thus İş-râ-ël dwelt in the land of the Ä'm'ôr-ites. 32 And Mō'sêš sent to spy out ^a Jâ'zêr;
and they took the ^b towns thereof, and drove out the Ä'm'
ôr-ites that were there.

33 And they turned and went up by the way of ^c Bā'shān: and ^d Og the king of Bā'shān ^e went out against them, he and all his

And Jê-hō'vāh said unto Mō'

all his people, and his land; and thou shalt do to him as thou didst unto Sî'hôn king of the bôn. 35 So they smote him, and his sons and all his people, until there was none left him remaining: and they possessed his land.

2 And ^k Bāl'lāk the son of Zîp'

Mō'āb was sore afraid of the people, because they were many:
and Mō'āb was distressed because of the children of İş-râ-ël.

4 And Mō'āb said unto the elders of ^a Mid'ān, Now will ¹ this multitude lick up all that is round about us, as the ^b ox licketh up the ^c grass of the ^d field. And Bā'lāk the son of Zip'pōr was king of Mō'āb at that time.

5 And he sent ^e messengers unto * Bā'lāam the son of Bē'ōr, to ^f Pē'thōr, which is by the ^g River, to the land of the children of his people, to call him, saying, Behold, there is a people come out from ^h Ē'gypt: behold, they cover the ⁱ² face of the ^j earth, and they abide over against me. 6 Come now therefore, I pray thee, ^k curse me this people; for they are too mighty for me: peradventure I shall prevail, that we may smite them, and that I may drive them out of the land; for I know that he whom thou ^l blestest is blessed, and he whom thou curtest is cursed.

7 And the elders of ^m Mō'āb and the elders of Mid'ān departed with the rewards of ⁿ divination in their ^o hand; and they came unto ^p Bā'lāam, and spake unto him the words of ^q Bā'lāk. 8 And he said unto them, ^{r s} Lodge here this night, and ^{tu v} I will bring you word again, as ^{w x} Jē-hō'vāh shall speak unto me: and the ^y princes of Mō'āb abode with Bā'lāam. 9 And God came unto Bā'lāam, and said, What men are these with thee? 10 And Bā'lāam said unto God, Bā'lāk the son of Zip'pōr, king of Mō'āb, hath sent unto me, saying, 11 Behold, the ^z people that is come out of Ē'gypt, it covereth the face

15 And Bā'lāk sent yet again princes, more, and more honorable than they. 16 And they came to Bā'lāam, and said to him, Thus saith Bā'lāk the son of Zip'pōr, Let nothing, I pray thee, hinder thee from coming unto me: 17 for ^d I will promote thee unto very great ^e honor, and whatsoever thou sayest unto me I will do: come therefore, I pray thee, curse me this people. 18 And Bā'lāam answered and said unto the ^f servants of Bā'lāk, If Bā'lāk would give me his ^g house full of ^h silver and ⁱ gold, I cannot go beyond the word of Jē-hō'vāh my God, to do less or more. 19 Now therefore, I pray you, tarry ye also here this night, that ^j I may know what Jē-hō'vāh will speak unto me more. 20 And God ^k came unto Bā'lāam at night, and said unto him, If the men are come to call thee, rise

21 And ^w Ē-lē-ā-^xzār the priest said unto the men of war that went to the battle, This is the ^y statute of the ^z law which Jē-hō-^avāh hath commanded Mō-^bšēš: 22 howbeit the ^c gold, and the ^d silver, the ^e brass, the ^f iron, the ^g tin, and the lead, 23 everything that may abide the ^h fire, ye shall make to go through the fire, and it shall be clean; nevertheless it shall be purified with the ⁱ water for impurity: and all that abideth not the fire ye shall make to go through the water. 24 And ye shall ^j wash your clothes on the seventh day, and

25 And Jē-hō-^avāh spake unto Mō-^bšēš, saying, 26 Take the sum of the prey that was taken, both of ^c man and of ^d ^e beast, thou, and ^f Ē-lē-ā-^gzār the priest, and the heads of the ^h fathers' ⁱ houses of the congregation; 27 and divide the prey into two parts: between the men skilled in war, that went out to battle, and all the congregation. 28 And levy a tribute unto Jē-hō-^jvāh of the men of war that went out to battle: one ^k soul of five hundred, ^l both of the persons, and of the ^m oxen, and of the ⁿ asses, and of the ^o flocks: 29 take it of their half, and give it unto ^p Ē-lē-ā-^qzār the priest, for Jē-hō-^rvāh's ^s heave-offering. 30 And of the children of Iš-rā-ēl's half, thou shalt take one drawn out of every fifty, of the persons, of the oxen, of the asses, and of the flocks, even of all the cattle, and give them unto the ^t Lē-^uvites, that keep the charge of the ^v tabernacle of Jē-hō-^wvāh. 31 And Mō-^xšēš and ^y Ē-lē-ā-^zzār the priest did as Jē-hō-^avāh commanded Mō-^bšēš.

6 And Mō^sšes said unto the children of Gad and to the children of Reu^bben, Shall your brethren go to the war, and shall ye sit here? 7 ^kAnd wherefore discourage ye the heart of the children of Īs⁴-rā-ēl from going over into the land which Jē^h-hō⁴vāh hath given them? 8 Thus did your ^lfathers, when I sent them from ^mKā⁴-dēsh-bār⁴-nē-ā to see the ^oland. 9 For when ^pthey went up unto the ^qvalley of ^rĒsh⁴-ēōl, and saw the land, they discouraged the ^sheart of

34 And Jê-hôl-vâh spake unto Mō-šêš, saying, 2 ⁿCommand the children of İs-râ-ël, and say unto them, When ye come into the land of Ēā-nāan (this is the land that shall fall unto you for an inheritance, even the land of Ēā-nāan according to the borders thereof), 3 ^othen your south quarter shall be from

19 And we ^vjourneyed from ^wHôr-rëb, and went through all that ^xgreat and terrible ^ywilderness which ye saw, by the way to the ^zhill-country of the ^aĀm'ôr-ites, as Jê-hôz'vâh our God commanded us; and we came to *Kâ'dêsh-bâr-nê-â. 20 And I said unto you, Ye are come unto the hill-country of the Ām'ôr-

26 ^mYet ye would not go up, but ⁿrebelled against the commandment of Jê-hôz'vâh your God: 27 and ye ^omurmured in your ^ptents, and said, Because Jê-hôz'vâh ^qhated us, he hath ^rbrought us forth out of the land of ^sĒ'g'gypt, to deliver us into the hand of the Ām'ôr-ites, to destroy us. 28 Whither are we going up? our brethren have made our ^theart to melt, saying, The people are greater and taller than we; the ^ucities are great and fortified up to ^vheaven; and moreover we have seen ^wthe certainly as respects the Number of Inches in a Cubit. Some say 18, some 19, some 21 Inches, and even 25.

"The Cubit of a Man."—Deut. 3:11. "The Measure of a Man"—Rev. 21:17.

The Egyptian Cubit consisted of Six Handbreadths.—Jer. 52:21.

Early Use of.—Noah's Ark was 300 Cubits long, 50 broad, and 30 high—Gen. 6:15.

Hebrews seem to have had Two Sizes of Cubits.—Solomon's Temple laid out on Basis of a "Cubit of First Measure"—II Chr. 3:3. Ezekiel prophesies concerning a Temple whose Cubit Measure is described as a Cubit and a Handbreadth—Ez. 40:5; 43:13. If so, this corresponds to Egyptian Measurements, where there was a Common and a Royal Cubit, the Common being but $\frac{2}{3}$ of the Other.

Ezekiel also speaks of Great Cubits.—Ez. 41:8.

Among the Hebrews the Scale was as follows: The Finger—Jer. 52:21. The Handbreadth (I Ki. 7:26), which consisted of 4 Fingers (Jer. 52:21); a Span which was 3 Handbreadths (Ex. 28:16), and a Cubit which was 2 Spans.

Get thee up unto the top of Piswith thine eyes: ^c for thou shalt

But charge Jōsh'ū-ā, and en-

you statutes and ordinances, even as Jē-hō'vāh my God com-unto the voice of Jē-hō'vāh your God.

9 Hear, O ^h Īs'rā-ēl: thou art to pass over the ⁱ Jordan this day, to go in to ^j dispossess nations greater and mightier than thyself, ^k cities great and fortified up to ^l heaven, 2 a people great and tall, the sons of the Ān'ā-kīm, whom thou knowest, and of whom thou hast heard say, ^m Who can stand before the sons of Ā'nāk? 3 Know therefore this day, that Jē-hō'vāh thy God is he ⁿ who goeth over before thee as ^o a devouring fire; ^p he will destroy them, and he will bring them down before thee: so shalt thou drive them out, and make them to perish quickly, as Jē-hō'vāh hath spoken unto thee. 4 Speak not thou in thy ^q heart, after that Jē-hō'vāh thy God hath thrust them out from before thee, saying, For my ^r righteousness Jē-hō'vāh hath brought me in to possess this land; whereas ^s for the ^t wickedness of these nations Jē-hō'vāh doth drive them out from before thee. 5 Not for thy righteousness, or for the uprightness of thy heart, dost thou go in to possess their land; but for the wickedness of these nations Jē-hō'vāh thy God doth drive them out from before thee, and that he may establish the word which Jē-hō'vāh sware unto thy fathers, to ^u Abraham, to ^v Īs'āae, and to ^w Jacob.

6 Know therefore, that Jē-hō'vāh thy God giveth thee not this good land to possess it for thy righteousness; for thou art a stiffnecked people. 7 Remember, forget thou not, how thou provokedst Jē-hō'vāh thy God to wrath in the wilderness: ^x from the day that thou wentest forth out of the land of ^a Ē-ġypt, until ye came unto this place, ye have been ^b rebellious against Jê-hô-^c vâh. 8 Also in ^c Hô-^{rēb} ye provoked Jê-hô-^{vâh} to ^d wrath, and Jê-hô-^{vâh} was angry with you to destroy you. 9 When I was gone up into the mount to receive the ^e tables of stone, even the tables of the covenant which Jê-hô-^{vâh} made with you, then I abode in the mount ^f forty days and forty nights; ^g I did neither eat ^h bread nor drink ⁱ water. 10 And Jê-hô-^{vâh} delivered unto me the two tables of stone written with the finger of God; and on them was written according to all the words, which Jê-hô-^{vâh} spake with you in the mount out of the midst of the ^j fire in the day of the assembly. 11 And it came to pass at the end of forty days and forty nights, that Jê-hô-^{vâh} gave me the two tables of stone, even the ^k tables of the covenant. 12 And Jê-hô-^{vâh} said unto me, Arise, get thee down quickly from hence; for thy people that thou hast brought forth out of Ē-ġypt have ^l corrupted themselves; they are quickly turned aside out of the way which I commanded them; they have ^m made them a molten image. 13 Furthermore Jê-hô-^{vâh} spake unto me, saying, I have seen this people, and, behold, it is a stiff-necked people: 14 ⁿ let me alone, that I may destroy them, and blot out their ^o name from under ^p heaven; and I will make of thee a nation mightier and greater than they. 15 ^q So I turned and came down from the mount, and the mount was burning with fire; and the ^r two tables of the cove-

But Jê-hô-^{vâh} hearkened unto me that time also. 20 And Jê-hô-^{vâh} was very angry with ^a Aâr-^{ôn} to ^b destroy him: and ^c I prayed for Aâr-^{ôn} also at the same time. 21 ^d And I took your sin, the ^e calf which he had made, and burnt it with fire, and stamped it, grinding it very small, until it was as fine as ^f dust: and I cast the dust thereof into the brook that descended out of the mount. 22 And at ^g Tâb-^ĕ-râh, and at ^h Mâs-^{sâh}, and at ⁱ Kîb-^{rôth}-hât-tâ-^â-vâh, ye provoked Jê-hô-^{vâh} to wrath. 23 And when Jê-hô-^{vâh} sent you from ^j Kâ-^{dēsh}-bâr-^{nē}-â, saying, Go up and possess the land which I have given you; then ye rebelled against the commandment of Jê-hô-^{vâh} your God, and ye ^k believed him not, nor ^l hearkened to his voice. 24 ^m Ye have been rebellious against Jê-hô-^{vâh} from the day that I knew you. 25 So I fell down before Jê-hô-^{vâh} the forty days and forty

12 ^dAnd now, Īś-rā-ēl, what doth Jê-hō-ŵāh thy God require of thee, but to ^efear Jê-hō-ŵāh thy God, to ^fwalk in all his ways, and to ^glove him, and to serve Jê-hō-ŵāh thy God with all thy ^hheart and with all thy ⁱsoul, 13 to ^jkeep the commandments of Jê-hō-ŵāh, and his ^kstatutes, which I command thee this day for thy good? 14 Behold, unto Jê-hō-ŵāh thy God belongeth ^lheaven and the heaven of heavens, the ^mearth, with all that is therein. 15 ⁿOnly Jê-hō-ŵāh had a delight in thy ^ofathers to ^plove them, and he ^qchose their ^rseed after them, even you ¹above all peoples, as at this day. 16 ^sCircumcise therefore the foreskin of your heart, and be no more ^tstiffnecked. 17 For Jê-hō-ŵāh your God, he is God of gods, and Lord of lords, the great God, the mighty, and the terrible, who regardeth not persons, nor taketh reward. 18 He doth execute ^ujustice for the ^wx fatherless and ^ywidow, and loveth the ^zsojourner, in giving him ^afood and ^braiment. 19 ^cLove ye therefore the sojourner; for ^dye were sojourners in the land of Ē-ġypt. 20 Thou shalt fear Jê-hō-ŵāh thy God; him shalt thou serve; and to him shalt thou cleave, and ^eby his name shalt thou swear. 21 He is thy ^fpraise, and he is thy God, that hath done for thee these great and terrible things, which thine ^geyes have seen. 22 ^hThy fathers went down into Ē-ġypt with threescore and ten persons;

11 Therefore thou shalt love Jê-hō-ŵāh thy God, and keep his charge, and his statutes, and his ^lordinances, and his commandments, alway. 2 And know ye this ^mday: ⁿfor I ^ospeak not with your children that have not known, and that have not seen the ^pchastisement of Jê-hō-ŵāh your God, his greatness, his ^qmighty ^rhand, and his outstretched ^sarm, 3 and his ^tsigns, and his ^uworks, which he did in the midst of Ē-ġypt unto ^vPhā-raōh the ^wking of Ē-ġypt, and unto all his land; 4 and what he did unto the ^xarmy of Ē-ġypt, unto their ^yhorses, and to their ^zchariots; ^ahow he made the water of the ^bRed Sea to overflow them as they pursued after you, and how Jê-hō-ŵāh hath destroyed them unto this day; 5 and what he did unto you in the ^cwilderness, until ye came unto this place; 6 and what he did unto Dā-thān and Ā-bī-rām, the sons of ^dĒ-lī-āb, the son of ^eReu-ḇbēn; how the earth opened its ^fmouth, and swallowed them up, and their ^ghouseholds, and their ^htents, and every ⁱliving thing that followed them, in the midst of all Īś-rā-ēl: 7 but your eyes have seen all the great work of Jê-hō-ŵāh which he did.

Jê-hô'vâh. 26 Only thy ^a holy things which thou hast, and thy ^b vows, thou shalt take, and go unto the place which Jê-hô'vâh shall choose; 27 and thou shalt offer thy ^c burnt-offerings, the flesh and the blood, upon the ^a altar of Jê-hô'vâh thy God; and the blood of thy ^e sacrifices shall be poured out upon the altar of Jê-hô'vâh thy God; and thou shalt eat the flesh. 28 ^f Observe and hear all these ^g words which I command thee, that it may go well with thee, and with thy children after thee for ever, when thou doest that which is good and right in the eyes of Jê-hô'vâh thy God.

29 When Jê-hô'vâh thy God shall cut off the ^h nations from before thee, ⁱ whither thou goest in to dispossess them, and thou dispossess them, and dwellest in their ^j land; 30 take heed to thyself that thou be not ^l ensnared ¹ to follow them, after that they are destroyed from before thee; and that thou inquire not after their gods, ^m saying, How do these nations serve their ⁿ gods? ² even so will I do likewise. 31 Thou shalt not do so unto Jê-hô'vâh thy God: for every ^o abomination to Jê-hô'vâh, which he hateth, have they done unto their gods; ^p for even their sons and their daughters do they burn in the ^q fire to their gods.

21 Ye shall not eat of anything that dieth of itself: thou mayest give it unto the ^asojourner that is within thy ^bgates, that he may eat it; or thou mayest sell it unto a foreigner: for ^cthou art a holy people unto ^dJê-hô'vâh thy God. ^eThou shalt not boil a kid in its ^fmother's ^gmilk.

22 Thou shalt surely ^htithe all the increase of thy ⁱseed, that which cometh forth from the ^jfield year by ^kyear. 23 And thou shalt eat before Jê-hô'vâh thy God, in ^lthe place which he shall choose, to cause his ^mname to dwell there, the tithe of thy ⁿgrain, of thy new ^owine, and of thine ^poil, and the ^qfirstlings of thy ^rherd and of thy ^sflock; that thou mayest learn to ^tfear Jê-hô'vâh thy God always. 24 And if the way be too long for thee, so that thou art not able to carry it, because the place is too far from thee, which Jê-hô'vâh thy God shall choose, ^vto set his name there, when Jê-hô'vâh thy God shall ^wbless thee; 25 then shalt thou turn it into ^xmoney, and bind up the money in thy ^yhand, and shalt go unto the place which Jê-hô'vâh thy God shall choose: 26 and thou shalt bestow the money for whatsoever thy ^zsoul desireth, for oxen, or for sheep, or for wine, or for ^astrong drink, or for whatsoever thy soul asketh of thee; and thou shalt eat there before Jê-hô'vâh thy God, and thou shalt ^brejoice, thou and thy ^chousehold. 27 And the ^dLê'vîte that is within thy gates, thou shalt not forsake him; for he hath no portion nor ^einheritance with thee.

28 ^fAt the end of every three years thou shalt bring forth all the tithe of thine increase in the same year, and shalt lay it up within thy gates: 29 and the Lê'vîte, because he hath no portion nor inheritance with thee, and the sojourner, and the ^gfatherless, and the ^hwidow, that are within thy gates, shall come, and shall eat and be satisfied; that Jê-hô'vâh thy God may bless thee in all the work of thy hand which thou doest.

15 ⁱAt the end of every ^jseven years thou shalt make a release. 2 And this is the manner of the release: every ^kcreditor shall release that which he hath lent unto his ^lneighbor; he shall not exact it of his neighbor and his ^mbrother; because Jê-hô'vâh's release hath been proclaimed. 3 Of a foreigner thou mayest exact it: but whatsoever of thine is with thy brother thy hand shall ¹release. 4 Howbeit there shall be no ⁿpoor with thee (for Jê-hô'vâh will surely bless thee in the ^oland which Jê-hô'vâh thy God giveth thee for an inheritance to possess it), 5 if only thou ^adiligently ^rhearken unto the voice of Jê-hô'vâh thy God, to observe to do all this ^scommandment which I command thee this day. 6 For Jê-hô'vâh thy God will bless thee, as he promised thee: and thou shalt lend unto many ^tnations, but thou shalt not borrow; and thou shalt rule over many nations, but they shall not rule over thee.

19 ^a When Jê-hôz'vâh thy God shall cut off the ^b nations, whose ^c land Jê-hôz'vâh thy God giveth thee, and thou succeedest them, and dwellest in their ^d cities, and in their ^e houses; 2 thou shalt set apart ^f three cities for thee in the midst of thy land, which Jê-hôz'vâh thy God giveth thee to possess it. 3 Thou shalt prepare thee the way and divide the borders of thy land, which Jê-hôz'vâh thy God causeth thee to ^g inherit, into three parts, that every ^h manslayer may flee thither.

4 ⁱ And this is the case of the manslayer, that shall flee thither and ^j live: whoso killeth his ^k neighbor unawares, and ^l hated him not in time past; 5 as when a man goeth into the ^m forest with his neighbor to hew ⁿ wood, and his ^o hand fetcheth a stroke with the ^p axe to cut down the tree, and the ¹ head slippeth from ² the helve, and lighteth upon his neighbor, so that he ^q dieth; he shall flee unto one of these cities and live: 6 lest the ^r avenger of blood pursue the manslayer, while his heart ^s is hot, and overtake him, because the way is long, and smite him mortally; whereas he was not ^t worthy of death, inasmuch as he hated him not in time past. 7 Wherefore I command thee, saying, Thou shalt set apart three cities for thee. 8 And if Jê-hôz'vâh thy God enlarge thy border, as ^u he hath sworn unto thy ^v fathers, and give thee all the land which he promised to give unto thy fathers; 9 ^w if thou shalt keep all this commandment to do it, which I command thee this day, to ^x love Jê-hôz'vâh thy God, and to ^y walk ever in his ways; then shalt thou add three cities more for thee, besides these three: 10 that ^z innocent ^{a b} blood be not shed in the midst of thy land, which Jê-hôz'vâh thy God giveth thee for an inheritance, and so blood be upon thee.

11 But if any man hate his neighbor, and lie in wait for him, and rise up against him, and smite him mortally so that he dieth, and he flee into one of these cities; 12 then the ^c elders of his city shall send and fetch him thence, and deliver him into the hand of the avenger of blood, that he may die. 13 Thine ^d eye shall not ^e pity him, but thou shalt put away ⁴ the innocent blood from ^f Îs-râ-ël, that it may go well with thee.

14 Thou shalt not remove thy neighbor's ^g landmark, which they of old time have set, in thine inheritance which thou shalt inherit, in the land that Jê-hôz'vâh thy God giveth thee to possess it.

15 ^h One ⁱ witness shall not rise up against a man for any iniquity, or for any ^j sin, in any sin that he sinneth: at the ^k mouth of two witnesses, or at the mouth of three witnesses, shall a matter be established. 16 If an ^l unrighteous witness rise up against any man to testify against him of ^m wrong-doing, 17 then both the men, between whom the ⁿ controversy is, shall stand before Jê-hôz'vâh, before the priests and the ^o judges that shall be in those days; 18 and the judges shall make diligent inquisition: and, behold, if the witness be a ^p false witness, and have testified ^q falsely against his ^r brother; 19 then shall ye do unto him, as he had thought to

18 If a ⁿ man have a stubborn and ^o rebellious son, ^p ^q that will not ^r obey the ^s voice of his ^t father, or the voice of his ^u mother, and, though they ^v chasten him, will not hearken unto them; 19 then shall his father and his mother lay hold on him, and bring him out unto the ^w elders of his ^x city, and unto the ^y gate of his place; 20 and they shall say unto the elders of his city, This our son is stubborn and rebellious, he will not obey our voice; he is a ^z glutton, and a ^a drunkard. 21 ^b And all the men of his city shall ^c stone him to ^d death with stones: so shalt thou put away the ^e evil from the midst of thee; and all ^f Īs-^g rā-^hēl shall hear, and ⁱ fear.

22 ^s Thou shalt not see thy ^t brother's ^u ox or his ^v sheep go astray, and hide thyself from them: thou shalt surely bring them again unto thy brother. 2 And if thy brother be not nigh unto thee, or if thou know him not, then thou shalt bring ^w it home to thy ^x house, and it shall be with thee until thy brother seek after it, and thou shalt restore it to him. 3 And so shalt thou do with his ^y ass; and so shalt thou do with his garment; and so shalt thou do with every lost thing of thy brother's, which he hath lost, and thou hast found: thou mayest not hide thyself. 4 Thou shalt not see thy brother's ass or his ox fallen down by the way, and hide thyself from them: thou shalt surely help him to lift them up again.

5 A ^z woman shall not ^a wear that which pertaineth unto a man, neither shall a man put on a woman's garment; for whosoever doeth these things is an ^b abomination unto Jē-hō'-vāh thy God.

6 If a ^c bird's nest chance to be before thee in the way, in any tree or on the ^d ground, with young ones or ^e eggs, and the dam sitting upon the young, or upon the eggs, ^f thou shalt not take the dam with the young: 7 thou shalt surely let the dam go, but the young thou mayest take unto thyself; ^g that it may be well with thee, and that thou mayest prolong thy days.

25 Then men shall say, ⁿ Because they forsook the ^o covenant of Jê-hôz-vâh, the God of their ^p fathers, which he made with them when he ^q brought them forth out of the land of Ēz-ġypt, 26 and went and served other gods, and ^r worshipped them, gods that they knew not, and that he had not ¹ given unto them: 27 therefore the anger of Jê-hôz-vâh was kindled against this land, to bring upon it all the curse that is written in this book; 28 and ^s Jê-hôz-vâh rooted them out of their land in anger, and in wrath, and in great indignation, and cast them into another land, as at this day. 29 The secret things belong unto Jê-hôz-vâh our God; but the things that are o Captains, Num. 2:3.

p Heaven, Deut. 26:15.
q Earth, Gen. 2:7.

for I know their imagination which they frame this day, before I have brought them into the land which I sware. 22 So Mō-šēš wrote this song the same day, and taught it the children of Iś-rā-ēl. 23 ^a And he gave Jōsh-ū-ā the son of ^b Nūn a charge, and said, Be strong and of good ^c courage; for thou shalt bring the children of Iś-rā-ēl into the land which I sware unto them: and ^d I will be with thee.

24 And it came to pass, when ^e Mō-šēš had made an end of writing the words of this ^f law in a ^g book, until they were finished, 25 that Mō-šēš commanded the ^h Lē-vītes, that bare the ⁱ ark of the ^j covenant of ⁱ Jē-hō-vāh, saying, 26 Take this book of the law, and put it by the side of the ark of the covenant of Jē-hō-vāh your God, that it may be there for a witness against thee. 27 For I know ^k thy rebellion, and thy stiff neck: behold, while I am yet alive with you this day, ye have been rebellious against Jē-hō-vāh; and how much more after my ^l death? 28 Assemble unto me all the ^m elders of your ⁿ tribes, and your ^o officers, that I may speak these words in their ears, and call ^p heaven and ^q earth to witness against them. 29 For I know that after my death ye will utterly ^r corrupt yourselves, and turn aside from the way which I have commanded you; and ^s evil will befall you in the latter days; because ye will do that which is evil in the sight of Jē-hō-vāh, to provoke him to anger through the ^t work of your hands.

30 And Mō-šēš spake in the ears of all the assembly of Iś-rā-ēl the words of this ^u song, until they were finished.

32 Give ear, ye heavens, and I will speak;
And let the earth hear the words of my ^v mouth.

2 My ^w doctrine shall drop as the ^x rain;

My speech shall distil as the ^y dew,

As the ^z small rain upon the tender ^a grass,

And as the showers upon the ^b herb.

3 For I will proclaim the ^c name of Jē-hō-vāh:

Ascribe the greatness unto our God.

4 The Rock, his work is ^d perfect;

For all his ways are ^e justice: A God of ^f faithfulness and without iniquity,

Just and right is he.
